88th Year—271

OVER THE TOP — William Bills, (left), chairman of the 1971 Community Fund Drive, and George Haney, assistant chairman, announced today the drive this year has exceeded the goal set for the fund. Part of the excess will be used to restore cuts made in budgets of some of the participating agencies and the remainder will be applied toward next year's budget.

$78,206 Collected

Community Fund Passes 1971 Goal

In the quarterly meeting of the Pickaway County Community Fund held last night it was announced by William Bills, campaign chairman, that the 1971-72 campaign has gone over its goal of $72,725.

A total of $78,206 has been contributed to date. This includes funds designated for other counties.

Funds collected for Pickaway County exceeded the budgeted amount by about $2,300. Most of this surplus will be used to restore a small part of the cuts made by the budget committee on the initial agency requests.

Approximately $400 will be carried over to future years. Bills stated that the success of this year's campaign was due to the tremendous effort of the division chairmen and their solicitors. Chairmen of the divisions and per cent of their goal reached were: Dale Mears and assistant, Vince DeFrank, Industrial, 114 per cent; Louise Heine, Norma Brackett and Mary Ann Willoughby, Circleville City, 113 per cent; Ken Speakman, Business, 101 per cent; W. L. Smith, Special Groups, 83 per cent; Phil Pfeeger, County, 78 per cent; and Joe Tighe, Advanced Gifts, 78 per cent.

OTHER chairmen who played an important part in the campaign were Carolyn Edstrom, Materials; Marc Davis, Training; Don Thompson, Publicity; George Haney, Assistant Campaign Chairman; and Charles Gerhardt, Treasurer.

Special thanks go to the Roundtown Chapter of The National Secretaries Association who did much of the typing for the campaign, and Pickaway County React and Rescue who helped with soliciting. Because of the generous gifts from the people of Pickaway County the agencies funded by the Community Fund will be able to continue their services to families in need throughout the county.

PCBMR Names New Director

Lemar J. Clevenger, 41, Westerville, has been employed as administrator and supervisor of the Brooks-Yates School and Pickaway County Sheltered Workshop it was announced today by Tom Downing, president of the Board of Mental Retardation.

Clevenger will replace Donald Hough, whose resignation is effective Dec. 31. Although Clevenger is not scheduled to begin his duties officially until Jan. 1, he will be familiarizing himself during the first part of December with the program.

The new administrator is a graduate of Taylor University, Indiana. He holds a bachelor of science in psychology from that school. He received his masters degree in the area of mental retardation from Ohio State University.

A consultant with the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, he is also editor of "MR Abstracts," a quarterly publication of the United States Government Printing Service.

Married, he is the father of two children.

Florida Mayor Backs Humphrey

MIAMI (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, sounding much like a presidential candidate, has accepted the endorsement of Miami Mayor David Kennedy. "It's nice to have a Kennedy on your side," Humphrey said.

Kennedy's support, which came during his re-election victory party Tuesday night, was the first Humphrey has received as a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination from a major political office holder. Aides to the Minnesota said several more would follow.

Kennedy was chairman of Sen. Birch Bayh's Florida campaign. Once the Indiana Democrat withdrew because of his wife's illness, several Democratic candidates began seeking Kennedy's backing.

Coal Mines Remain Idle Despite Pact

Miners Await Pay Board Nod On Settlement

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Four days after the signing of a new coal miners' contract many mines remain closed and quiet as some men say they are either dissatisfied with the pact or want to wait and see if it is approved by the federal Pay Board.

Miners remained off their jobs in many areas of West Virginia, although the industry was reported to have mostly returned to normal in southwest Virginia and Kentucky. Miners were expected to resume work in eastern Ohio with the mid-night shift this morning.

Several United Mine Workers district presidents spent Tuesday meeting with members and local officials to explain to them the details of the contract and convince them they should go back to work for the first time since the strike began Oct. 1.

"It is my recommendation and my professional opinion that miners should return to work," Leonard Pnakovich, president of UMW District 31 in northern West Virginia, said. "It must be presumed that the contract will stand," he said, referring to some miners' contentions that they want to wait for the Pay Board's decision.

The contract calls for at least a 30 per cent increase over the previous three-year pact and is out of line with the board's decision to hold increases to 5.5 per cent.

Tuesday's back-to-work movement followed meetings with officials who gave the details of the contract ratified by the union's 125-man scale and policy committee.

Thursday, coal operators are to go to Washington for a meeting called by the Bituminous Coal Operators Association to study the contract.

A CLUSTER of balloons with only four unbroken, and those having lost most of their air, was found Tuesday near the post office by Terry Keaton of 460 N. Court St. on his way to school. Inside one of the balloons advertising drive-in restaurants was the name of Norbert Zeliski of Calumet City, Ill.

PERHAPS we should check our street signs... Yesterday visitors from Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Washington D.C., California and other locations commented unfavorably about having to cross an intersection to read street signs to determine where they were... Maybe we are too close to the forest to see the trees.

Ohio Farm Bureau Federation Meets

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 230 delegates and their wives from 86 counties gathered here today for the three-day, 53rd annual meeting of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Major opening day addresses were to be delivered by Gov. John Gilligan and Farm Bureau President Robert Summer of Tiffin, who was expected to discuss the effects on farmers of uniform assessment of real property taxes.

HE enlisted in the army during the first World War and served for 14 months in this country at an evacuation hospital, and for eight months in France.

He was discharged in 1919 and returned to Kingston to practice medicine with his father until the latter's death in 1936, and since then by himself.

Dr. Lightner never retired and held calling hours at his office until the day he died.

Council Okays Fiscal Legislation

Circleville City Council had a busy legislative session Tuesday acting on a number of fiscal ordinances introduced to keep the city's financial responsibilities current.

Councilman David Goldschmidt reported the city had already borrowed $27,000 from its inactive accounts to meet expenses for the remainder of the year and will probably have to borrow more.

He emphasized that this money must be returned from the first tax revenues received next year. Goldschmidt projected a possible $60,000 deficit in the budget for 1972 unless extra income from increased taxes, either income tax or real estate tax, is enacted by council or by a vote of the residents of Circleville. Council authorized City Auditor Marvene Turner to draw warrants on the city treasurer for the amount of $4,839.80 to pay current bills.

AN ordinance, transferring $1,771.48 within the income tax fund to the refunds account was approved. The money is to refund an overpayment of the income tax made by Container Corporation of America.

Other transfers of funds authorized by ordinance were: $314.56 from the street construction and repair fund to the Public Employees Retirement Service fund; $1,500 from the state highway improvement fund to the materials account within the fund; $1,000 from the street construction and repair fund to the maintenance of equipment account within the fund; $20,800 from the water works operating fund to the sanitary sewer fund; $500 from the water works operating fund to the incidentals account within the fund.

Councilmen unanimously voted a salary raise for city auditor Marvene Turner. Goldschmidt, in asking his fellow lawmakers to approve the raise, said it had been six years since her salary was increased and would be another four years before they could legislate another wage increase for her. The salaries of elected officials cannot be increased during a term, Goldschmidt said.

In other fiscal action taken by Council, the amounts and rates of taxation for the city as set by the Pickaway County Budget Commission was accepted by resolution.

An ordinance authorizing the mayor or safety director to advertise for bids for a 1972 model police cruiser was approved. In explaining the need for the new police car, safety committee chairman Frank BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Premier Thanom Kittikachorn took over absolute power in Thailand today.

He dissolved the Cabinet, abolished Parliament and suspended the constitution.

An announcement broadcast nationwide said Thanom heads a new Revolutionary Council consisting of personnel from the army, navy, air force, police forces and some civilian elements.

Marital law was declared. The premier, a field marshal who has headed the predominantly military government eight years, declared himself the head of the Revolutionary Council. The action against Parliament.

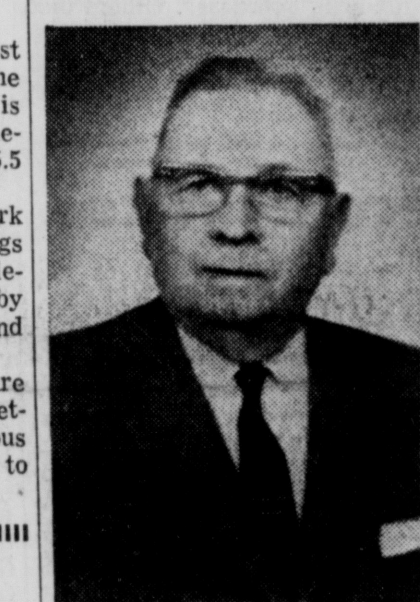

It was in effect a return to the conditions that prevailed before Parliament was reconstituted in 1969. There were 10 years of military rule before that. Thanom's predecessor, Sarit Thanarat, also was a field marshal. He died in 1963.

The action was a surprise, but it reflected the government's previously expressed dissatisfaction.

There was no indication of a change in status for the air bases the United States operates in Thailand. Besides allowing

'South Pacific' Comedy Enjoyable Tale Of Love

By MICHELE HULSE
Herald Staff Writer

Comedy reigns with overtones of sadness in Roundtown Players' current production of "South Pacific." And the unique group of characters that have joined to produce this play will reign when the curtain opens 8:30 tonight throughout the entire three-hour show.

Mary Pat Otto definitely shines out in the cast of 30 as she sings, dances, charms and falls in love — all in an extremely wholesome manner — as Nellie Forbush, the knuckle-headed nurse who believes in sunshine and people and falls for an older French planter.

The other half of the May-December match is a Frenchman with a well-ordered mind and deep past, portrayed by James Leckrone. His presence on stage indicates a man of strong purposes, rather lofty. But when Mary Pat joins him, she brightens the somber mood and brings the play to life.

Both have many singing parts — including "Some Enchanted Evening", "Cockeyed Optimist" and more.

TWO other character parts take precedence on the stage.

B. J. Sowers makes her portrayal of Bloody Mary one of the highlights of the show as she bargains her way with all the sailors and marines — except one lieutenant. Her lines Indiana Atty. Gen. Theodore L. Sendak said he received notice of the time today from E. Robert Seaver, clerk of the court.

Sendak said arguments will be heard not only on Roubidoux's plea for a recount in the close election but also on Sendak's own suit against Hartke in defense of the Indiana Recount Law.

Nixon Signs Bill, Ignores Pullout

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon signed today a $21.3-billion military procurement bill but said he would ignore one of its provisions—the Mansfield amendment urging him to set a final date for the withdrawal of all U.S. forces in Indochina.

Nixon said in a statement that the amendment "is without binding force or effect; and it does not reflect my judgment about the way the war should be brought to a conclusion."

The President charged, too, that "legislative actions such as this hinder rather than assist in the search for a negotiated settlement."

Brown Hits Gilligan Veto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today Gov. John J. Gilligan's veto of an election reform bill "has thrown Ohio's elections into a state of chaos."

Gilligan vetoed the bill Monday, saying it could be used to prevent many Ohioans from exercising their constitutional right to vote.

"This will cause numerous problems in our election process during the 1972 Presidential election year," Brown said, "unless we can salvage the voting rights of more than six million potential Ohio electors — immediately."

He said the governor's action "leaves us without any guidelines for numerous election procedures."

"Because of past federal court decisions and the new federal voting rights act," Brown added, "it will be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to elect delegates and alternates to the national conventions next year for political parties in the state."

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Greyhound Corp. President James Kerrigan talked all day Tuesday with union negotiators in an effort to avert a strike by thousands of bus line workers across the nation, a federal mediator said.

But there was no sign of progress at the end of the 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. session in which Kerrigan and the labor representatives "talked about quite a number of items that are still unresolved," as federal mediator William Rose later reported.

De Louette bought a Volkswagen camper for the purpose. It was loaded with heroin, packed in 44 plastic packs of one kilo each, hidden on the camper and then shipped aboard the Atlantic Cognac.

Mariner 9 Gets Peek At Ridges

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists say Mariner 9's third peek through a hole in the dust storm shrouding Mars has given them the key to understanding strange ridge-like features near the planet's south pole.

Somewhat the frozen carbon dioxide covering part of the pole has dissipated the dust above, allowing the orbiting spacecraft's television cameras Tuesday to see through for the third time. Scientists planned to photograph the area again today while the dust continues to blot out the rest of the planet.

"We clearly have the ability even with the dust storm to map this feature in detail," said Dr. Bruce Murray of the California Institute of Technology. "It's too early to tell what caused these features but detailed study of these photographs will allow us to tell what they are."

The 400-mile-long ridges puzzled scientists when Mariner 7 observed them from 2,000 miles away in 1969.

It was winter then, and the entire south pole of Mars was covered with frozen carbon dioxide—dry ice.

Scientists couldn't tell if the ridges were mountains covered with carbon dioxide snow or were solid carbon dioxide. Some experts suggested they might be grooves in the planet's surface carved by glaciers of dry ice, just as ice glaciers on earth hew valleys and ridges.

Circleville City Council had a busy legislative session Tuesday acting on a number of fiscal ordinances introduced to keep the city's financial responsibilities current.

Brown Hits Gilligan Veto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today Gov. John J. Gilligan's veto of an election reform bill "has thrown Ohio's elections into a state of chaos."

Gilligan vetoed the bill Monday, saying it could be used to prevent many Ohioans from exercising their constitutional right to vote.

"This will cause numerous problems in our election process during the 1972 Presidential election year," Brown said. "Unless we can salvage this important extension of the voting rights of more than six million potential Ohio electors — immediately."

He said the governor's action "leaves us without any guidelines for numerous election procedures."

"Because of past federal court decisions and the new federal voting rights act," Brown added, "it will be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to elect delegates and alternates to the national conventions next year for political parties in the state."

No Breakthrough In Greyhound Talks

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Greyhound Corp. President James Kerrigan talked all day Tuesday with union negotiators in an effort to avert a strike by thousands of bus line workers across the nation, a federal mediator said.

But there was no sign of progress at the end of the 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. session in which Kerrigan and the labor representatives "talked about quite a number of items that are still unresolved," as federal mediator William Rose later reported.

De Louette was seized after the customs inspector detected the cache. He pleaded guilty Tuesday to conspiring to smuggle the heroin.

The indictment involving Fournier points up the alarm expressed by a number of narcotics agents who suspected, but had no proof, that there might be some high-up leaks or high-up protection involving trafficking.

Also mentioned in the indictment was the existence of an unidentified connection in the French consulate in New York with whom De Louette was to make contact.

De Louette reportedly was to receive $50,000 for his role in the smuggling.

Heroin Haul Points Up French Involvement

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a "cold hit." The customs inspector aboard the freighter took another, closer look at the Volkswagen camper and soon 96 pounds of pure heroin were discovered.

"We didn't have any information about a specific vehicle, or about that particular vehicle," explained a special agent of the Customs Bureau, "but we were concentrating on vehicles."

The ship had come from Le Havre, where the camper had been put aboard, and arrived in Port Elizabeth, N.J., on April 3.

The smuggling of heroin, whether from Le Havre of Marseille or from Orly Airport, is usually the last step in the French role in the lucrative heroin traffic.

France plays a key role in obtaining the crude product and refining it into heroin. Most of the refining is done in clandestine laboratories in the Marseille area.

"The reason it is Marseille," explains a Bureau of Narcotics agent assigned to the office there, "is that the criminal syndicates are dominated by Corsicans and this is where they have trafficked since World War II."

John T. Cusack, head of the Bureau of Narcotics office in Paris, has said Marseille remained a key processing center because "it is only 800 miles from the source and the traffickers do not want to extend their lines of communication."

Cusack was referring to the hilly region of Turkey where most of the opium poppy is grown. The opium gum is processed into morphine base in Turkey or in such a country as Lebanon. It comes into France as a morphine base, smuggled mainly by ship.

While the United States and France early this year came to a public commitment to put renewed pressure on heroin traffickers, Cusack privately indicated that the French could do a much better job if they had the will. He later said as much in a critical interview in a French magazine.

The "cold hit" in Port Elizabeth resulted in the indictment of a top ranking French intelligence officer. He is Col. Paul Fournier, a supervisory agent in the counterintelligence service.

The federal grand jury described Fournier as the brains behind the smuggling scheme and said he employed a former aide, Roger de Louette, to carry out the smuggling.

De Louette bought a Volkswagen camper for the purpose. It was loaded with heroin, packed in 44 plastic packs of one kilo each, hidden on the camper and then shipped aboard the Atlantic Cognac.

Arriving April 3, the ship put into Port Elizabeth. De Louette came to the dock April 5, after flying to the United States from France the day before, and claimed his camper. The heroin, at that stage, was commanding a wholesale price of $25,000 a kilo. The 44 kilos was enough to supply the average needs of 96,000 heroin addicts for one day.

De Louette was seized after the customs inspector detected the cache. He pleaded guilty Tuesday to conspiring to smuggle the heroin.

The indictment involving Fournier points up the alarm expressed by a number of narcotics agents who suspected, but had no proof, that there might be some high-up leaks or high-up protection involving trafficking.

Also mentioned in the indictment was the existence of an unidentified connection in the French consulate in New York with whom De Louette was to make contact.

De Louette reportedly was to receive $50,000 for his role in the smuggling.

Ashville Kiwanis and their wives Tuesday evening. Miss Kurtz used color slides to illustrate some of the technological breakthroughs that one day may solve such problems as environmental pollution, energy supply, mass education and food shortages, thereby assuring a better way of life for all people in the future.

The young lady told of a new refuse reclamation plant that completely recycles all types of wastes into marketable products, a new "superwood," and some of the steps being taken to assure adequate supplies of natural gas for Ohioans.

Miss Kurtz appeared before the group dressed in an outfit made from natural gas.

Russ Toole, first vice-president and public relations chairman, arranged the program for the Ladies Night meeting.

President Rodger Southward noted that 4½ tons of scrap newspaper were sold Saturday. The project is continuous, and all Ashville area residents are asked to call Kiwanis members for paper pick up. Southward also reminded members that the International Relations Committee is interested in collecting old Christmas cards and used stamps.

Russ Toole and Bill Huston asked all members to get their Charity Newsie ads sold. All ads and copy must be turned in by Nov. 30.

Don Collins reported that an Interclub had gone to Lancaster Fairfield Kiwanis a week earlier and that one was planned Wednesday evening with the Eastern Kiwanis Club and one Monday at Gahanna.

Door prizes were won by Helen Toole and Frank Hudson. Bill Lockard, chairman of the agriculture committee, reported that the club would host several members of the Teays Valley Future Farmers of America at next week's meeting.

IRA Threatens Retaliation Against British

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army today threatened ruthless reprisals against British intelligence men who it accused of torturing guerrilla suspects.

An IRA statement, commenting on a British government inquiry into interrogation methods, demanded a probe by a team of international jurists. It added: "Torturing by British troops is still going on and nothing short of a full disclosure of the truth will shock the British public into disowning the infamous policy of their government."

"The Irish Republican Army has compiled a list of names of those engaged in torturing. Ruthless action will be taken against them in due course."

The British government inquiry found that interrogation methods used on some IRA suspects involved physical mistreatment.

Barn Dinner Theatre Stages Allen Comedy

The Barn Dinner Theatre, located east of Columbus just off Interstate 70 between Brice Road and Reynoldsburg, will stage a Woody Allen Comedy, "Play It Again Sam," beginning tonight.

"Play It Again Sam" is about a young man who has difficulty making it with the ladies. Howard Sherman plays the role created by Woody Allen.

Cocktail hour at the Barn Dinner Theatre begins at 6:30 p.m., gourmet buffet is from 7 to 8 and the play begins at 8:30. Plays change every month. The theatre is "in the round" and the stage is suspended from the ceiling. Capacity is 400 persons. Productions are Tuesday through Sunday.

An ordinance authorizing the safety director to advertise for bids for sandblasting and repointing the brickwork of City Hall for repair of windows of the building was approved.

COUNCILMAN Harold Clifton introduced the measure. He explained the exterior of the building was deteriorating and since the voters turned down a levy to restore, remodel and renovate the old building, it would be necessary to expend capital improvement funds for major maintenance repairs.

Two resolutions were also approved — one adopting the updated map of traffic and traffic controls and the other approving the comprehensive development plan for Circleville.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

A date to remember — Dec. 21 at 8 p.m. council will hold a public hearing concerning the rezoning of the Smith property in the city's south end to permit construction of a shopping center.

A delegation from the Pickaway County Family YMCA was present at Council meeting. Ben Brian, spokesman, reminded that House Bill 459 would return the Ohio National Guard Armory to the city of Circleville as soon as signed by Governor John Gilligan. He requested that Y board members meet with the council service committee to discuss continuing the YMCA's lease on the building.

Also present were members of an Association of American University Women's group.

A communication from the Ohio Department of Water Pollution Control was read. The letter noted the city's permit to discharge untreated sewage would not be renewed. A letter concerning an inspection of the city water plant was also read. The letter advised that the city's storage capacity should be increased in the near future.

Service Director Atwood Jones said a traffic actuated control device had been installed at the intersection of Court Street and Seyfert Ave. Jones noted the light would remain on green on Court Street until traffic approached the intersection from Seyfert or until a pedestrian crossing button is pushed.

Councilman Samuel (Pete) Cook said that residents of the Isaac Addition needed and wanted city water as soon as possible. He asked if there were any legislation he could introduce to initiate action to get water to the area. It was suggested by Council President Joe Bell that Cook discuss the matter with public utilities director Charles Taylor.

Councilman David Crawford noted that the water department plans to install or replace 20 fire hydrants this fall.

In discussing repairs to the city's leaf pickup machine, Councilman (soon to be mayor) Barnhill asked why, if it's so expensive to maintain the present machine, thought has not been given to purchasing a new and better one. Crawford, head of the service committee, said it had been discussed but that since he couldn't get council's approval to advertise for bids for a much needed pickup truck to replace one on which a door had fallen off, among other things, he hesitated to ask for a new machine.

State Senators Eye Strip Mine Regulations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Senate today began initial hearings on a bill to tighten regulations against the strip mining industry. The measure passed the House last month 92-0.

Sen. Robert E. Stockdale, R-31 Kent, chairman of the Highways and Transportation Committee, said he expects the hearings to be completed in two to three weeks.

Rep. Sam Speck, R-29 New Concord, the bill's prime sponsor in the House, said it would provide Ohio with "one of the best reclamation laws in the country."

Stockdale said he expected testimony, for the most part, to be a replay of that heard in the House. The bill establishes guidelines for reclaiming stripped land and a policing agency and bonds to assure compliance.

Board Ponders Retroactive Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pay Board is still grappling over the controversial issue of retroactive pay raises after failing to reach a settlement Tuesday.

The five labor members of the 15-member board want workers to get back pay from wage increases that ordinarily would have gone into effect during the 90-day wage-price-freeze period.

The board met seven hours

Tuesday but adjourned until today without issuing any new Phase 2 policy directives.

A spokesman said the board discussed "methods of implementing its policies pertaining to retroactive pay increases."

Affected most would be about 100,000 teachers, whose school year began during the freeze.

The 15-member Pay Board refused last week, over the solid vote of the five labor members, to grant general retroactivity. It did agree to decide each case of retroactive pay on its merits.

Nathaniel Goldfinger, the AFL-CIO's chief economist, flew to Miami Beach after meeting and said, however, that the board had voted to table action on retroactive pay pending further study.

Goldfinger, who serves as AFL-CIO President George Meany's alternate on the Pay Board, said he considered the action rejection of blanket retroactivity and that there was no assurance the board would again consider the issue.

He said he had left a staff member in Washington to sit in on further Pay Board meetings for Meany.

The Florida meeting today draws Meany and the 35-man executive council of the 117-union federation.

Their recommendations on what labor's course should be in regard to the Pay Board will be sent to the 1,000 delegates representing 14 million AFL-CIO members who open the federation's convention here Thursday.

Meany has said that the question of retroactive pay is essential to labor's continued participation in Nixon's economic program and that if any workers were refused back pay, it would amount to government cancellation of legal labor contracts.

Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally said Tuesday night that the 90-day freeze, which ended Sunday, was a "resounding success."

In a speech to the Economic Club of New York, Connally conceded there may be uncertainty about rules governing the economy after the freeze. But he said the only way to assure certainty would be through regimentation, control and loss of freedom.

"There are certain things of which you can be sure . . .," he said. "You can be certain that the rate of inflation will be cut roughly in half by the end of 1972 . . . You can be certain that 1972 is going to be a better year than 1971."

Although the administration predicted a late-year upsurge this year, industrial output measured in October showed a much smaller increase than in September.

The Federal Reserve Board supplied the latest reading of the nation's economic health Tuesday, reporting that industrial production increased by 2 per cent in October after advancing .8 per cent the month before.

The board's official index measuring output of the nation's factories, mines and utilities was 3.6 per cent above the low point recorded last November.

Essentially, the proposal is to limit the Social Security trust funds to about a year's expected demands. They now total roughly $50 billion against a yearly outlay of $35 billion. But the programmed surplus of tax receipts over expenditures is estimated to build them up to $200 billion in 15 years.

The present Social Security tax is 5.2 per cent on a maximum wage base of $7,800. Under the pending legislation, it would go to 5.4 per cent on a maximum of $10,200 next year and to 7.4 per cent by 1977. Employers pay a matching amount.

Officials said the new accounting plan would make it possible to hold the rate at 5.4 per cent for decades.

Stock Prices Move Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices dipped lower, erasing an early modest lead in today's slow trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks slipped 2.78 to 815.93.

Declines held a small lead over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the bargain hunting which had prompted the earlier rise had dissipated. They said many investors remained on the sidelines because of concern about Phase 2 of President Nixon's economic policies and recent market losses.

Oils, chemicals, rubber issues, and electronics were off. Aircrafts and mail order-retail were higher. All other stock categories were mixed.

Ford To Seek More Price Hikes

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has filed a request with the Price Commission for permission to raise prices on 1972 model cars and trucks the firm announced Tuesday.

A spokesman said only that the petition asked price boosts for "some of Ford's cars and trucks" but declined to specify the models involved or the amounts sought.

The most likely models, however, are the Ford Torino, the Mercury Montego and the Lincoln Continental Mark IV.

ber, but it was still 5 per cent below the peak reached in the middle of 1969.

The Commerce Department said Tuesday, however, that housing starts increased an encouraging 5 per cent in October, reaching a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2,050,000 units.

middle of a big war game. Hovermole's acting is a bit frustrated at times, sounding more like someone chanting lines from a book. His only hints of emotion come when he defends an older man's appeal to young women and when he gets the last laugh on Billis.

MAYBE it was stage fright, or perhaps the children's voices were too fragile to penetrate very deeply into the audience, but Lynn Fisher and Keith Palm showed a few cute scenes by their quiet presentation — in French, though.

The play is good. And entertaining. And fun. This can be attributed to the choruses of Seabees and nurses who sing, dance and hold bit parts which join the play together. Much time and effort has gone into choreographing — which is evident. They deserve applause as much as the other characters.

Accenting their singing is a small ensemble of musical instruments, directed by Clara Teegarden.

Testimony Raps UMW Leadership

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Disabled coal miners testified Tuesday they were forced to pay back union dues before becoming eligible for pensions.

Another miner said he had been offered a full pension in 1968 if he would stop trying to organize a chapter of dissident disabled miners and widows.

The testimony came in the fourth of five planned days of hearings in which the National Labor Relations Board is trying to determine whether the United Mine Workers union's pension practice violates the National Labor Relations Act.

Jury Votes Lesser Charge On Assault

James E. Claypool Jr. was found innocent Tuesday of assault with intent to rob by a 12-member jury in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Jurors deliberated one hour before returning with their decision at 3 p.m. yesterday, finding the young man guilty instead of a lesser charge of assault and battery.

The decision culminated a day and a half testimony presented by witnesses for the state, including 83-year-old Nora Alice Heiskell, who named Claypool as her attacker the evening of June 29 in her N. Court St. home.

The misdemeanor charge Claypool was found guilty on carries a maximum of six months jail term. He has served four months on failure to make bond, but there is no report whether the judge will take this into consideration on the date of sentencing which is yet unscheduled.

The jury, headed by forelady Mrs. Nancy List, consisted of: Wilma Eveland, Helen Kuhlwein, Robert Jacobs, Sandra Gilt, Rebecca D. Timmons, Inez M. Leist, Marion Leatherwood, John Skinner, Margaret Lindsey, Marie Sowers and Ruth Doty.

Theft Reports Investigated By Sheriff

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department investigated three burglary reports Wednesday.

The South Central Power Company and the Gilmore Brothers Construction firm, both working at Wintergreen Acres, Route 22, East, the former site of the County Home, were both struck by thieves for an estimated $65 loss for both firms.

According to the Sheriff's report, thieves broke into two trucks parked at the construction site. They then took bolt cutters, side pliers and an aluminum climbing iron from the Gilmore Brothers and used the tools to strip 75 pounds of copper wire from the Power Company.

They damaged an estimated 200 feet of primary wire in completing the theft.

Goodchild Construction, Route 3, reported the theft of two tires and wheels from a parked truck Tuesday night. The loss is estimated at $420.

Mrs. Mary Buskirk, 390 John St., has been dismissed from University Hospital, Columbus. She is recuperating at her home following surgery.

American Motors Price Boost Ok'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission approved today a request by American Motors Corp. to raise prices by 2.5 per cent on 1972 model automobiles.

The commission also announced that it has asked for additional detailed information from Chrysler Corp., which has filed a request for automobile price boosts averaging about 5.9 per cent.

ber, but it was still 5 per cent below the peak reached in the middle of 1969.

The Commerce Department said Tuesday, however, that housing starts increased an encouraging 5 per cent in October, reaching a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2,050,000 units.

middle of a big war game. Hoover's acting is a bit frustrated at times, sounding more like someone chanting lines from a book. His only hints of emotion come when he defends an older man's appeal to young women and when he gets the last laugh on Billis.

MAYBE it was stage fright, or perhaps the children's voices were too fragile to penetrate very deeply into the audience, but Lynn Fisher and Keith Palm showed a few cute scenes by their quiet presentation — in French, though.

The play is good. And entertaining. And fun. This can be attributed to the choruses of Seabees and nurses who sing, dance and hold bit parts which join the play together. Much time and effort has gone into choreographing — which is evident. They deserve applause as much as the other characters.

Accenting their singing is a small ensemble of musical instruments, directed by Clara Tegardin.

"South Pacific" is a hit in its own right. Roundtown Players' production is — well, show times are at 8:30 nightly through Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday. Try it.

Testimony Raps UMW Leadership

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Disabled coal miners testified Tuesday they were forced to pay back union dues before becoming eligible for pensions.

Another miner said he had been offered a full pension in 1968 if he would stop trying to organize a chapter of dissident disabled miners and widows.

The testimony came in the fourth of five planned days of hearings in which the National Labor Relations Board is trying to determine whether the United Mine Workers union's pension practice violates the National Labor Relations Act.

Jury Votes Lesser Charge On Assault

James E. Claypool Jr. was found innocent Tuesday of assault with intent to rob by a 12-member jury in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Jurors deliberated one hour before returning with their decision at 3 p.m. yesterday, finding the young man guilty instead of a lesser charge of assault and battery.

The decision culminated a day and a half testimony presented by witnesses for the state, including 83-year-old Nora Alice Heiskell, who named Claypool as her attacker the evening of June 29 in her N. Court St. home.

The misdemeanor charge Claypool was found guilty on carries a maximum of six months jail term. He has served four months on failure to make bond, but there is no report whether the judge will take this into consideration on the date of sentencing which is yet unscheduled.

The jury, headed by forelady Mrs. Nancy List, consisted of: Wilma Eveland, Helen Kuhlwein, Robert Jacobs, Sandra Glitt, Rebecca D. Timmons, Inez M. Leist, Marion Leatherwood, John Skinner, Margaret Lindsey, Marie Sowers and Ruth Doty.

Theft Reports Investigated By Sheriff

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department investigated three burglary reports Wednesday.

The South Central Power Company and the Gilmore Brothers Construction firm, both working at Wintergreen Acres, Route 22, East, the former site of the County Home, were both struck by thieves for an estimated $65 loss for both firms.

According to the Sheriff's report, thieves broke into two trucks parked at the construction site. They then took bolt cutters, side pliers and an aluminum climbing iron from the Gilmore Brothers and used the tools to strip 75 pounds of copper wire from the Power Company.

They damaged an estimated 200 feet of primary wire in completing the theft.

Goodchild Construction, Route 3, reported the theft of two tires and wheels from a parked truck Tuesday night. The loss is estimated at $420.

Cashless Society

The cashless society is not something the average American family belongs to after it has completed the weekly shopping trip. Ther term refers to various proposals which have been made to enlist the aid of computers in place of cash in the transaction of everyday business.

It is a highly imaginative idea, but one not outside the capability of modern computerization. Simply stated, the concept involves a credit card used for such transactions as paying for groceries at the checkout counter, paying monthly bills without checks and possibly even being paid without cash or check by the employer.

Limited experiments have shown the idea is possible, if not always practical. Now an entire community is acting as guinea pig. Upper Arlington, O., is a community of 40,000 which is now well into a six-month study of just what happens when almost anything can be purchased through an electronic credit card system.

Thirty-one participating merchants, accounting for about half the business in town, have computer terminals on their counters. When a credit card is inserted, the terminal first verifies with a computer located in a bank that the card has not been stolen or withdrawn.

Then it records the amount of the sale, and reports back the amount so the customer can verify it.

That is all there is to it, on the surface. At the end of the month the customer receives a statement from the bank listing his purchases, and pays for it all with one check.

Of course, if an extended power failure ever puts Upper Arlington's computer out of service, a sudden revaluation in Uncle Sam's medium of barter may take place.

After Hours Schooling

Evening college courses long ago became accepted parts of the American educational system. They are well attended, both by adults who couldn't go to college any other way and by full-time students who want to accelerate their progress.

Could weekend colleges be the next logical step in the march to provide higher education to all who desire it? It could, if the example set by Long Island University is followed. A special program at the university has enrolled 260 men and women pursuing various educational goals on Saturdays and Sundays.

Ease of admission is the key to the program, which offers tuition discounts to wives enrolling with their husbands and accepts payment by credit card.

Weekend classes will not appeal to all, especially those who find their "leisure" time already over-occupied. But extending the hours of any educational institution provides opportunities for some erstwhile students who could not participate in a formal schooling structure.

That students are available in abundant numbers for "after hours" training is evident in the popularity of the programs.

Old Faithful

Scientists studying rocks brought back from the moon have learned something about the sun as well. In their studies of high-energy solar particles on the rocks, the scientists had expected to find variations in the sun's energy output.

These variations were absent, indicating the sun — unlike stars in other solar system — has been shining steadily for more than 4 billion years, with nary a recorded variation.

Not only does that consistently reliable pattern establish the sun as one of the most stable stars of the universe, its dependability makes it something unique here on earth, too.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things we could all do without:

A hatcheck girl who looks grumpy when you leave only two-bits.

Mothers and daughters who dress alike after Mama is 50 and daughter is over 25.

Rain or snow on weekends during the football season.

Hostesses who put so much garlic in their food that you're afraid to open your mouth for three days afterwards.

People who use artificial flowers to decorate their home but never dust them.

The tributes anonymity of most modern day gravestones. Just because a guy didn't do much when alive is no reason why his survivors can't think up something nice to say about him after he has gone.

Anybody who cloaks his laziness or his fear of trying anything new by saying he is allergic to it.

Anybody who tries to achieve a spurious fame by carving, painting or scratching his name or initials on public buildings, national monuments or wash-room walls for that matter, except in his own home.

Anybody in the office who noisily munches peanut brittle when you're on a diet.

Women who can tell you how to get out of Vietnam but can't sew on a button for a fellow.

The feel of a withered avocado.

The sound of an accordion being played at a party by a guy who took a correspondence school course in music during his youth.

The look on the face of a teen-age son while being told that if he wants to have the family car that night he'll have to dig up the dough to put some gas in the tank.

The frustration of finding no beer in the refrigerator halfway through the midnight movie on television with 24 more commercials to sit through.

Trying to answer a letter from the Internal Revenue Service without showing either rage or servility.

Trying to appear pleased when your daughter calls to invite you to baby sit your grandchildren overnight — "that is, if you don't mind sleeping in the basement with our dog."

A stuck zipper in an un-manned night club men's room with the girl of your dreams impatiently waiting at a table for your return.

Rock music groups with such names as "Keokuk Tomtoms," "Graceless Neanderthals," or "The Beerpail Thumpers."

Old ladies who pinch ripe tomatoes in the supermarket and middle-age men who do the same thing in the office.

From these and other afflictions and perils, deliver us, Amen.

Urges Fall Cleanup

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP) — Carlos N. Bailey, an executive advisor to the local Goodwill Industries chapter, urges every household to hold a "fall housecleaning." The unwanted items stored in garages, cellars and attics can become tax deductions when contributed to Goodwill, says Mr. Bailey.

Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex., has opened its 43rd major academic building.

NEW YORK (AP) — More fundamental issues may be involved in current economic problems and our handling of them than at any time since the 1930s, but awareness may not be as great as it was 40 years ago.

The renovation of the economy during the Great Depression came after almost every American was made personally aware of its failure. Little doubt existed that fundamental changes were being made.

The economic changes now being fashioned are equally basic but, because they are seen as remedies for immediate problems, the long-term consequences are sometimes overlooked.

Consider the matter of self-regulation versus government controls. Americans traditionally have considered self-regulation as more acceptable than orders from Washington. Free of shackles, it was felt, business could better do its job.

Few people now really believe that in some automatic way the economy is a self-correcting mechanism.

Doubts have risen as to the ability of a self-regulated industry to curtail its abuses, such as in polluting air and water, although in its defense, it must be noted that industry's problems are not solely because of its failures but involve rising expectations on the part of the citizenry.

Self-regulation versus controls is the issue in a thousand battles being waged today between industry and its critics, and some business leaders fear that not only are they losing the present but that the critics rather than they are shaping the future.

The imposition of economic guidelines is only one illustration of this. Few people are willing to let the economy regulate itself: even conservative economists refuse to accept the terms the economy demands in seeking a balance. Instead, they demand that government step in and balance it.

Men of great learning once offered unemployment as the solution for inflation, and it is true that there is a correlation between high employment and inflation, and unemployment and a reduction of inflation.

But unemployment as a solution is less acceptable today, if not for moral then for political reasons. The inclination of political leaders, including President Nixon, is to aim for high employment and seek to constrain inflation via controls.

Another big issue that sometimes is seen as a crisis of the moment rather than a fundamental problem that will last for decades concerns the city. Each day the problem is emblazoned in headlines or perhaps more personally demonstrated in a confrontation with a beggar, addict, rapist or murderer.

But poverty, addiction, rape and murder are only the surface of an even more difficult matter to contend with. The rich and educated flee the city, the poor and ignorant flock to it. The brains and money aren't there to deal with the problem; hopes exist without possibility of fulfillment.

The situation, little more than a matter of survival for all society, remains relatively undealt with. How can the city pay more for services on a shrinking tax base? How can the city stop the flight from rural poverty to an even worse urban existence?

One mayor after another contends that the crisis of the city is a federal problem. Does this mean that the power of the city to regulate itself is as in the case of business, to be turned over to the federal government?

These are momentous issues.

Hands On Nuclear Button

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
MINOT, N. D. — I don't know what I expected to see at the Minot Air Force Base, where the new Minuteman III, a nuclear missile capable of deploying a number of Multiple Independent Re-entry Vehicles (MIRVs), is being substituted for older Minuteman versions. Some lurking vestige of fear must have remained with me from all those scare books and movies about a maniacal or accidental nuclear discharge ("Dr. Strangelove," "Fail-Safe," etc.) that were so prevalent in the 60s.

The actuality of Minot is something of a flat anti-climax. First of all there is the land itself, the limitless miles of Dakota prairie, where the widely spaced hardened missile sites (you fly by helicopter to reach any one of them) can scarcely be noticed amid the plantings of winter wheat. The Rotarian slogans of the nearby town of Minot enforce the feeling of the commonplace ("Only the Best Come North," "Why not Minot?"). This is supposed to be the land of isolationism, but the story of the farmer who regards a missile close to his barn as his own and keep warning headquarters about flood conditions in his fields is wholly convincing. The country around is friendly to the purposes of the base.

Then there are the men who run the base and monitor the missiles. You couldn't ask to meet a more matter-of-fact bunch. They are all college graduates, volunteers from ROTC programs, a group that is closely attuned to the common-sensical values of Middle America. A few questions satisfy an interviewer that these young men regard their role as that of rather humdrum insurance agents: they are there to see to it that the Soviets and the Chicom never dare press a nuclear button against us. Forty per cent of the missile monitors are studying for the Master's degree in Business Administration at the local branch of the University of North Dakota, which does not exactly mark them out as sinister swashbucklers in the Dr. Strangelove tradition.

The colleges the young men came from have a predominantly Middle American flavor: Western State (Colorado), Tennessee Tech., the University of Texas, Northern Michigan, Washington State. Syracuse was the closest approach to Ivy League territory; significantly, the lieutenant from that campus was the only one I encountered who wore a mustache. A captain who had been graduated from the University of Maryland was the only one that had had the opportunity to watch anti-militarist demonstrators.

As one moved from an elevator to the underground control room at one of the missile sites, he reflected that the atomic "pushbutton" was in sober hands. The Strategic Air Command doctrine of "positive control," however, does not leave it up to individual choice of any sort when it comes to firing a missile. First, two keys must be turned within two seconds on each other in any control room — and the keys are too far apart for one man to handle both of them in the allotted time. Secondly, the turning of two other keys in a distant control booth must be synchronized with the first pair. The order for a firing must come from the President as Commander-in-Chief, and it must be relayed through the SAC underground post at Offutt Nebraska, or, in the unlikely case that SAC headquarters has been demolished, through "Looking Glass," as the airborne counterpart of the SAC underground control room is called. It would take a monstrous conspiracy including the President of the United States and the Joint Chiefs of Staff to fire a missile in sheer malevolence. Finally, there is the "inhibitor" signal that can be pressed should there be a last-minute decision to stop a firing.

If we err in anything about "positive control" of the missile, it could be in the direction of too much precaution. What if the "inhibitor" were to abort a reply to an incoming Soviet first strike? Even here, however, there is an overlapping safety factor: the B-52s on the Minot bomber base are ready to take to the air on four minutes warning. For seven-day stints in summer and for three-and-one-half-day stints in winter, the bomber crews eat, sleep and have their being within four minutes of takeoff time. Radar warnings would have them airborne for a retaliatory nuclear strike before the enemy could hit them on the ground.

The authors of "Dr. Strangelove" and "Fail-Safe" would not have had a story if they had ever visited Minot. But who was it that said an intellectual was a person who never fed his intellect? The trouble with America, one muses as one leaves Minot, is that we have all too many such intellectuals around.

30 YEARS AGO

Tiger Carl Bach grabbed a punt and ran 60 yards through a broken field for a touchdown. Johnny Woods kicked the extra point tying Washington C. H. 7-7. At least the score was tied until officials ruled that a Circleville lineman had roughed the Washington punter. The Tigers had battled ankle deep in mud to earn the tie, but officials took the score away from them, giving the game to the Blue Lions, 7-0.

Milk producers and dairies published an advance in prices on milk, to 12 cents a quart, whipping cream to 18 cents a half pint, butter milk to eight cents a quart regular and 12 cents creamed. Prices were only two cents over wholesale costs.

Because voters had not previously passed additional operating monies for the city, council had reduced the strength of all street lights, a savings of nearly $3,000 annually. Failure to pass the 2 mill levy sought by council in 1941 resulted in all street lights being turned off completely.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carter observed their Golden Wedding anniversary in the home in Williamsport where they were married and lived their entire life. It was also Mrs. Carter's birthplace.

Isaly's at 111 W. Main St. offered giant ice cream cones for only one cent after purchasing one at the regular price — 5 cents.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. offered its 1942 model of a gas refrigerator, promising trouble-free operation and unconditionally guaranteed for 10 years.

Eighteen-year-old Ashville

autoist Francis Huber, survived a most unusual mishap in Pickaway County history. He was enroute to his home from his job in Chillicothe at 2 a.m. and apparently fell asleep. The youth's car was found just before noon, lying demolished in water under a concrete bridge on Route 23 about a mile and half north of the Circleville city limits. Huber was taken earlier to Berger Hospital by a passing trucker, but he had been thrown from the auto before it made its 45 foot leap off the roadway into the creek and no one realized for a time that young Huber had been in an auto.

Russell Moats, Circleville, was the first victim of the hunting season here. Moats was hunting on opening day when his shotgun exploded, a fragment of the muzzle striking him above the eye. Moats told Dr. Ned Griner that he had tried to shoot a shell that was too heavy a gauge for his gun.

Kingston was granted a charter to form an American Legion unit in that village.

Rudolph "Pop" Gessley, 89, died at his home on 517 E. Franklin St., after six years illness. Gessley was one of Circleville's best known men. He has spent many years of his long life as a circus official, traveling with several of the country's largest shows and had been active in the local Elks Lodge.

Ohio's donation to the National Thanksgiving observance at Plymouth, Mass., came from Circleville's Pumpkin Show Society. Mack Parrett, secretary of the county agriculture society, said a prize pumpkin grown by William Duvall had been sent, on request from Governor Bricker, to the national celebration.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is it always necessary for a doctor to make a culture of the throat before he prescribes an antibiotic for a child? How else can he choose the proper one?

Mrs. L. U. N. C.

Dear Mrs. U.: Cultures of the throat are not always necessary before a doctor prescribes an antibiotic. By past experience and judgment, doctors frequently can suspect the nature of an illness and can even speculate about the bacteria or germ causing it.

There are now many "wide-spectrum" antibiotics which destroy a variety of bacteria. When the doctor suspects the cause is a virus rather than bacteria, he knows that antibiotics are ineffective.

Nevertheless, even with a virus infection an antibiotic is sometimes prescribed to ward off the possibility of secondary or additional infection.

Cultures of the throat, blood, urine, feces and spinal fluid are made when the illness is severe or unusual. Then the exact bacteria is identified and a specific antibiotic chosen to destroy it.

Sometimes a physician chooses an antibiotic and then, if it seems to be ineffective, he may choose another or crossfire with sulfa drugs.

One doesn't hear as much about trichinosis as formerly. Does this mean that it is a disappearing disease?

Mrs. S. N. L. Mo.

Dear Mrs. I: The lay person rarely hears about cases of trichinosis but this does not mean they do not exist. The reason statistics about this parasitic disease have become reduced lies in the fact people pay better attention to the cooking of pork and follow the advice of educational campaigns by public health officials.

The round worm, Trichinella spiralis, which is responsible for trichinosis, is taken into the stomach by eating raw or under-cooked pork.

The key to avoiding this severe infection, therefore, is to cook and overcook pork. Interestingly, trichinosis is comparatively rare in native populations in the tropics. The condition does not seem to exist in France to any significant degree because swine are fed root vegetables.

There seems to be a careless letdown about keeping up vaccinations against measles, mumps and polio. There is nothing more pathetic than a child permanently damaged by the neglect of regular booster shots to maintain immunity.

Theater Fee Set At $18,000

NORTH SMITHFIELD, R.I. (AP) — The town council has taken a step toward eliminating X-rated movies from the town's only theater: it upped the license fee from $160 to $18,000 per year.

Councilman Robert E. Mowry proposed the motion to charge Rustic Drive-In movie theater $50 per day in fees so it "can no longer operate profitably."

Residents have objected to the theater's policy of showing two X-rated movies nightly.

Walking Stick Death Weapon

LONDON (AP) — A man whose body was found in Hyde Park at dawn Monday was killed by a gun fitted into a walking stick, Scotland Yard reported Tuesday.

The stick was lying beside the body and the Yard said it now believed the death was a suicide, not a murder as it thought before the weapon was found.

The police said the victim was 21 but did not reveal his name. He was found on Rotten Row, the park's bridge path.

They'll Do It Every Time

Cashless Society

The cashless society is not something the average American family belongs to after it has completed the weekly shopping trip. Ther term refers to various proposals which have been made to enlist the aid of computers in place of cash in the transaction of everyday business.

It is a highly imaginative idea, but one not outside the capability of modern computerization. Simply stated, the concept involves a credit card used for such transactions as paying for groceries at the checkout counter, paying monthly bills without checks and possibly even being paid without cash or check by the employer.

Limited experiments have shown the idea is possible, if not always practical. Now an entire community is acting as guinea pig. Upper Arlington, O., is a community of 40,000 which is now well into a six-month study of just what happens when almost anything can be purchased through an electronic credit card system.

Thirty-one participating merchants, accounting for about half the business in town, have computer terminals on their counters. When a credit card is inserted, the terminal first verifies with a computer located in a bank that the card has not been stolen or withdrawn.

Then it records the amount of the sale, and reports back the amount so the customer can verify it.

That is all there is to it, on the surface. At the end of the month the customer receives a statement from the bank listing his purchases, and pays for it all with one check.

Of course, if an extended power failure ever puts Upper Arlington's computer out of service, a sudden revaluation in Uncle Sam's medium of barter may take place.

After Hours Schooling

Evening college courses long ago became accepted parts of the American educational system. They are well attended, both by adults who couldn't go to college any other way and by full-time students who want to accelerate their progress.

Could weekend colleges be the next logical step in the march to provide higher education to all who desire it? It could, if the example set by Long Island University is followed. A special program at the university has enrolled 280 men and women pursuing various educational goals on Saturdays and Sundays.

Ease of admission is the key to the program, which offers tuition discounts to wives enrolling with their husbands and accepts payment by credit card.

Weekend classes will not appeal to all, especially those who find their "leisure" time already over-occupied. But extending the hours of any educational institution provides opportunities for some erstwhile students who could not participate in a formal schooling structure.

That students are available in abundant numbers for "after hours" training is evident in the popularity of the programs.

Old Faithful

Scientists studying rocks brought back from the moon have learned something about the sun as well. In their studies of high-energy solar particles on the rocks, the scientists had expected to find variations in the sun's energy output.

These variations were absent, indicating the sun — unlike stars in other solar system — has been shining steadily for more than 4 billion years, with nary a recorded variation.

Not only does that consistently reliable pattern establish the sun as one of the most stable stars of the universe, its dependability makes it something unique here on earth, too.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things we could all do without:

A hatchback girl who looks grumpy when you leave only two bits.

Mothers and daughters who dress alike after Mama is 50 and daughter is over 25.

Rain or snow on weekends during the football season.

Hostesses who put so much garlic in their food that you're afraid to open your mouth for three days afterwards.

People who use artificial flowers to decorate their home but never dust them.

The tributes anonymity of most modern day gravestones. Just because a guy didn't do much when alive is no reason why his survivors can't think up something nice to say about him after he has gone.

Anybody who cloaks his laziness or his fear of trying anything new by saying he is allergic to it.

Anybody who tries to achieve a spurious fame by carving, painting or scratching his name or initials on public buildings, national monuments or wash-room walls for that matter, except in his own home.

Anybody in the office who noisily munches peanut brittle when you're on a diet.

Women who can tell you how to get out of Vietnam but can't sew on a button for a fellow.

The feel of a withered avocado.

The sound of an accordion being played at a party by a guy who took a correspondence school course in music during his youth.

The look on the face of a teen-age son while being told that if he wants to have the family car that night he'll have to dig up the dough to put some gas in the tank.

The frustration of finding no beer in the refrigerator halfway through the midnight movie on television with 24 more commercials to sit through.

Trying to answer a letter from the Internal Revenue Service without showing either rage or servility.

Trying to appear pleased when your daughter calls to invite you to baby sit your grandchildren overnight — that is, if you don't mind sleeping in the basement with your dog.

A stuck zipper in an unannounced night club men's room with the girl of your dreams impatiently waiting at a table for your return.

Rock music groups with such names as "Keokuk Tomtoms," "Graceless Neanderthals," or "The Beerpail Thumpers."

Old ladies who pinch ripe tomatoes in the supermarket and middle-age men who do the same thing in the office.

From these and other afflictions and perils, deliver us, Amen.

The police said the victim was 21 but did not reveal his name. He was found on Rotten Row, the park's bridle path.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is it always necessary for a doctor to make a culture of the throat before he prescribes an antibiotic for a child? How else can he choose the proper one?

Mrs. L. U. N. C. Dear Mrs. U.: Cultures of the throat are not always necessary before a doctor prescribes an antibiotic. By past experience and judgment, doctors frequently can suspect the nature of an illness and can even speculate about the bacteria or germ causing it.

There are now many "wide-spectrum" antibiotics which destroy a variety of bacteria. When the doctor suspects the cause is a virus rather than bacteria, he knows that antibiotics are ineffective.

Nevertheless, even with a virus infection an antibiotic is sometimes prescribed to ward off the possibility of secondary or additional infection.

Cultures of the throat, blood, urine, feces and spinal fluid are made when the illness is severe or unusual. Then the exact bacteria is identified and a specific antibiotic chosen to destroy it.

Sometimes a physician chooses an antibiotic and then, if it seems to be ineffective, he may choose another or crossfire with sulfa drugs.

One doesn't hear as much about trichinosis as formerly. Does this mean that it is a disappearing disease?

Mrs. S. N. I. M. Dear Mrs. I.: The lay person rarely hears about cases of trichinosis but this does not mean they do not exist. The reason statistics about this parasitic disease have become reduced lies in the fact people pay better attention to the cooking of pork and follow the advice of educational campaigns by public health officials.

The round worm, Trichinella spiralis, which is responsible for trichinosis, is taken into the stomach by eating raw or under-cooked pork.

The key to avoiding this severe infection, therefore, is to cook and overcook pork. Interestingly, trichinosis is comparatively rare in native populations in the tropics. The condition does not seem to exist in France to any significant degree because swine are fed root vegetables.

There seems to be a careless letdown about keeping up vaccinations against measles, mumps and polio. There is nothing more pathetic than a child permanently damaged by the neglect of regular booster shots to maintain immunity.

Theater Fee Set At $18,000

NORTH SMITHFIELD, R.I. (AP) — The town council has taken a step toward eliminating X-rated movies from the town's only theater: it upped the license fee from $160 to $18,000 per year.

Councilman Robert E. Mowry proposed the motion to charge Rustic Drive-In movie theater $50 per day in fees so it "can no longer operate profitably."

Residents have objected to the theater's policy of showing two X-rated movies nightly.

How To Gauge The Costs Of A College Education

Horoscope Forecast

By Carroll Righter

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third in a five-part series by Associated Press writer William Waugh, a specialist on education matters.

By WILLIAM WAUGH
If you are planning to send your children to college, you'd better start preparing yourself for a giant-sized financial jolt.

Today it costs anywhere from $4,000 to $20,000 to obtain a bachelor's degree. For a family with four children, that means the education tab could run as high as $80,000. Throw in a couple of years of graduate schooling for each, and the total figure for such a family could exceed $100,000. And the costs go higher every year.

Don't despair, though. Just as college costs have multiplied, so have the ways to finance a college education. Colleges, state and federal governments, private and public organizations are expanding their financial aid programs to help students and parents overcome the money barrier.

Unless a family is wealthy or has a king-sized savings account, money for a college education will come from a combination of sources—parents' savings and current income; student employment; scholarships and loans.

A savings plan, of course, should be started early. If you begin when the child is 3 years old, you can have $5,000 in the bank when he is 18 if you save $18.70 a month. If you wait until he is 13, a monthly set-aside of $73.30 is required to reach the $5,000 figure. If you haven't started a savings plan yet, you're not alone: surveys show more than half the parents who intend to never do.

As for contributions from family income, don't overlook the fact that you can apply toward college costs a large portion of the $850-to-$1,000 a year which most moderate-income families spend to maintain a youngster living at home while attending high school.

Student employment—one of the traditional methods of paying college costs—is taking on a new look with growing government assistance. Most colleges now participate in the federal government's work-study program. Uncle Sam puts up 80 per cent of the money, and the college finds jobs on or off campus for eligible students. The jobs pay at least the federal minimum wage, and the student works an average of 15 hours a week while attending classes.

The federal government also provides some financing for cooperative programs. Now available at more than 200 schools, students in a cooperative program alternate a semester of attending classes with a semester of full-time work at a paying job. It usually takes the student five years to get his degree.

Scholarships, too, are taking on a new look. The days of the big sweepstakes, everything-paid, four-year scholarship has faded. In its place is growing the concept of scholarship grants awarded to worthy students, with the size depending on the students' needs. In this field, the federal government has the Educational Opportunity Grants program, and nearly a score of states offer scholarship grants.

With much of the scholarship, grant and employment aid being based on a student's financial need or on the economic standing of his family, students from middle and upper income families are increasingly turning to loans to help finance their college education.

In this area, the government offers two major programs—the National Defense Student Loan program and the Guaranteed Loan Program. Under the NDSL program, the interest rate is a low 3 per cent and the repayment provisions are generous—especially if you become a teacher. These loans are administered by colleges, which receive federal funds for the purpose. Under the Guaranteed Loan Program, loans are obtained from a commercial lender, with the government guaranteeing repayment.

In addition to the government programs, many colleges, foundations and private organizations have loan programs. There also has been rapid growth in loans to students' parents, principally through commercial banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations and finance companies. Because interest rates and repayment periods can vary considerably, parents are urged to "shop around" to find the best available terms.

THURSDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES:
Just relax and let things work out today and tonight and do not yield to an inner urge or to outer pressure from someone who wishes to drive you to act in a demanding and forceful fashion. You will be able to get much of value done through an opportunity now presented. Show your talents, abilities. Quietly bring them into the open.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)
Associates will gladly listen to new ideas you have and then go along with you in promoting them to greater mutual benefits. Seek a new source for that data you need. Keep active.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)
Change that lethargic attitude and get busy doing the work that will make new projects you have in mind work out well. Later take the health measures that make you even more dynamic. Forget petty things.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)
If you are pleasant with pals, you find they quickly go along with some interesting ideas you have in mind. An hour spent with a wise expert can bring fine results. Let creativity be the keynote now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)
Stop all that talking and get busy at the work ahead of you and you accomplish much now. Cooperate with others more than you have in the past. Getting to bed early is wise.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)
If you go out for pleasure you can get excellent ideas from others that will be very helpful in the future. If you adopt a new attitude toward others you learn a great deal. Save time for a good friend tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)
There are monetary interests that you had better do something about if you really want that extra income you have been thinking about. Talk them over with banker, expert in business first, though. Then full speed ahead.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)
Ideal day for buying and selling, making new and better arrangements for the future, adding to present efficiency. Keep appointments on time and be brief. Get any information you need from right sources.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)
Greater effort on your part in a.m. can bring in the bacon you need easily now, but make sure you do not lose your temper with others. Study trade and financial journals well. These can be very helpful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)
You have good ideas for bettering your personal life, so be sure you associate with charming and high-minded persons. Show good friends how much you appreciate them.

Pickaway Grange

STAR GRANGE

Star Grange met Tuesday evening in Monroe School auditorium with Worthy Master Harold Furniss presiding over the business session.

The charter was draped in memory of our worthy brother Clark Dennis and the group voted Otha Lewis as Stewart to fill the vacant chair.

Contributions were made to the Veterans Hospital at Chillicothe to the Christmas Seal program and to the Youth Installation team for installing the officers.

A short recess was called and an officers' meeting was held to complete the plans for the new year books. Mrs. Paul Dawson, Junior Deputy, announced inspection date for Feb. 22 and the First Degree will be given for inspection. She also announced our annual Christmas Party will be held on Dec. 14. The delegates to the State Convention, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bidwell will give their report at this time.

A turkey will be furnished by the grange and each family is to bring a covered dish for the supper. There will also be a gift exchange. Mrs. Paul Dawson, worthy lecturer, opened her program, "Remembering Our Veterans," with each member present naming a veteran or someone in the service of their country.

Mrs. Otha Lewis sang "God Bless America," accompanied at the piano by Helen Hammel. Otha Lewis read, "I Love America" and Mrs. Hammel played a medley of Armed Forces songs. Mrs. Francis Furniss read "The Voice of the Unknown Soldier" and the group sang "The Song of Peace." The program closed with prayer by Laura Long. Seasonal refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan and their committee.

Boiler Task Force Chairman Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Rep. James Baumann, D-60 Columbus, will serve as chairman of a task force being named to recommend safeguards against explosions in boiler heating systems.

Director Joe Shump of the Ohio Department of Industrial Relations, who announced the task force will be appointed Thursday, noted that Baumann was the chief sponsor of recent legislation requiring biennial inspection of low pressure boilers in public places.

While the legislation was a "definite stride in the right direction," Shump said there still is a need for a "thorough examination" of the operational safety of boiler heating equipment.

An estimated 736,000 units of sheep graze the Navajo Reservation.

Mrs. Charles Wellman WSCS Meeting Speaker

Women's Society of Christian Service of Emmett Chapel met recently at the church. Roll call was answered by the 24 members present naming what they were thankful for.

Members sang "Count Your Blessings" and "Thank You Lord" and Mrs. T. F. Hatfield presented prayer. Mrs. Don Myers read Scripture from Hebrews for devotion and talked about faith and unbelief.

'Human Needs'

Five Points

WCTU Program

Five Points Women's Christian Temperance Union met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Neff for its November meeting.

Mrs. Francis Furniss, president, opened the meeting and used as her theme "Love Seeketh Not Its Own" and the song "O, Spirit of the Living God." Mrs. Loring Stoor read Scripture followed by meditation and prayer.

Roll call was answered by members repeating their favorite Bible verse.

Mrs. Arthur Winfough read "Community Responsibility." Mrs. Lloyd Neff, chairman of the social service department, read "Meeting An Emergency" and members related their service reports.

Mrs. Loring Stoor, chairman of the citizenship department, read "Meeting Human Needs" and gave a report of her department. She said that hope is the great healer. Where disappointment has leveled a dream, hope builds again; where depression has shrouded the future, hope hangs out the banner of promise and possibility.

The meeting closed with the benediction and refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be 2 p.m. Dec. 9th in the home of Mrs. Loring Stoor with members exchanging gifts for Christmas.

Guild Plans

Yule Party

Berger Hospital Guild 53 held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Edward Hart, 191 Sunset Drive with Mrs. Harold Griffith as co-hostess.

During the business session discussion was held concerning meetings for the coming year. The league's annual Christmas Party will be held at Suburban East 6:15 p.m. Dec. 11th.

The remainder of the evening was spent making Thanksgiving favors for patients at the hospital.

The next regular meeting will be Jan. 10th in the home of Mrs. Dwight Rector with Mrs. Forrest Easterday as co-hostess.

Wedding Plans

Are Completed

Plans for the wedding of Miss Kathy Deckard and Richard F. Compton have been completed.

The open church ceremony will take place 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20th in St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Weiler Addresses

Martha Circle

Martha Circle of Community United Methodist Church met Monday evening in the church parlor with 13 members present. Mrs. Maxine Andregg, chairman, opened the meeting by reading the poem "One Nation Under God" by Helen Steiner Rice, and asked each member to state her greatest blessing during the past year.

The Christmas carry-in dinner will be held in the social rooms on Dec. 1st with Mrs. Kenneth Luna of Cleveland presenting the program "Nativity Art." Table decorations will follow the same theme and a special offering will be used for projects of the Christian Social Relations Committee.

Items for the secret gift shop can be taken to the church office until Dec. 13th.

For devotion Mrs. Walter Owens read from Proverbs 31 and also the poem "Dark Testament."

Mrs. Vernon Weiler, a case worker with the Pickaway County Welfare Department for ten years, spoke on "Struggle Against Poverty." She explained the various assistance programs and the requirements for receiving the benefits of each. She also told of recent changes in the laws that affect eligibility for public assistance.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. L. Chilcote, Mrs. William Cook, Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Fred McGlone. Other members present were Mrs. Maxine Andregg, Mrs. R. R. Bales, Mrs. Paul Betz, Mrs. Virgil Cress, Mrs. Gunner Musselman, Mrs. Walter Owens, Mrs. William Rickey, Mrs. William Spain, Mrs. Dwight Steele and Mrs. Vernon Weiler.

Mrs. Charles Wellman WSCS Meeting Speaker

Women's Society of Christian Service of Emmett Chapel met recently at the church. Roll call was answered by the 24 members present naming what they were thankful for.

Members sang "Count Your Blessings" and "Thank You Lord" and Mrs. T. F. Hatfield presented prayer. Mrs. Don Myers read Scripture from Hebrews for devotion and talked about faith and unbelief.

'Human Needs' Five Points WCTU Program

Five Points Women's Christian Temperance Union met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Neff for its November meeting.

Mrs. Francis Furniss, president, opened the meeting and used as her theme "Love Seeketh Not Its Own" and the song "O Spirit of the Living God." Mrs. Loring Stoeer read Scripture followed by meditation and prayer.

Roll call was answered by members repeating their favorite Bible verse.

Mrs. Arthur Winfough read "Community Responsibility." Mrs. Lloyd Neff, chairman of the social service department, read "Meeting An Emergency" and members related their service reports.

Mrs. Loring Stoeer, chairman of the citizenship department, read "Meeting Human Needs" and gave a report of her department. She said that hope is the great healer. Where disappointment has leveled a dream, hope builds again; where depression has shrouded the future, hope hangs out the banner of promise and possibility.

The meeting closed with the benediction and refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be 2 p.m. Dec. 9th in the home of Mrs. Loring Stoeer with members exchanging gifts for Christmas.

Guild Plans Yule Party

Berger Hospital Guild 53 held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Edward Hart, 191 Sunset Drive with Mrs. Harold Griffith as co-hostess.

During the business session discussion was held concerning meetings for the coming year. The league's annual Christmas Party will be held at Suburban East 6:15 p.m. Dec. 11th.

The remainder of the evening was spent making Thanksgiving favors for patients at the hospital.

The next regular meeting will be Jan. 10th in the home of Mrs. Dwight Rector with Mrs. Forrest Easterday as co-hostess.

Wedding Plans Are Completed

Plans for the wedding of Miss Kathy Deckard and Richard F. Compton have been completed.

The open church ceremony will take place 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20th in St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

Women In Congress Fewer, More Powerful Than Ever

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Men Only" read a sign in the U.S. House of Representatives when Jeanette Rankin arrived to take her seat.

That was in 1917, three years before American women won the right to vote, and Rep. Rankin, R-Mont., was the first member of her sex to win a seat in Congress.

Today the sign is long gone and women make up a majority of the American electorate. But they make up less than 2 per cent of the U.S. Congress where their number has declined by 40 per cent during the past decade.

Nevertheless the dozen women now serving in Congress exercise more power than most of the 80 who have followed in Jeanette Rankin's footsteps.

The most powerful is Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, the only woman in the Senate and the only member of her sex to have served in both chambers of Congress.

She was elected to her late husband's House seat in 1940 and to the Senate in 1949 and now is ranking Republican on the Armed Services Committee.

Fiercely independent, she often casts the decisive ballot on close issues.

"A woman's viewpoint should be objective and free of any emphasis on feminine interests," says Mr. Smith, who has shown little interest in the equal rights issue.

The only woman to vote against the equal rights amendment recently passed by the House is Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., who shares with Sen. Smith the distinction of being the only women in Congress today who succeeded their husbands.

In contrast, of the 20 women in Congress when the high point of female representation was reached in 1962, ten had succeeded their husbands.

"There are differences between male and female roles in our society and I hope there always are," Mrs. Sullivan said in explaining her vote against the amendment.

In Congress since 1952, she holds the longevity record among women in the House. Chairman of the subcommittee on consumer affairs, she is especially proud of having introduced and guided to passage the truth-in-lending bill and of having authored the first food stamp program.

A power in the House is Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., chairman of a subcommittee on higher education and an influential force on the parent Education and Labor Committee.

Her legislative skill was demonstrated recently when the House staged its longest, scrappiest session this year before passing the $23-billion education bill that came from her subcommittee.

Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., the first black woman to serve in Congress staged what was probably the first successful single-handed revolt against the venerated committee assignment system.

Representing a Brooklyn district she was incensed at being assigned to a subcommittee dealing with rural development and forestry.

She surprised colleagues by striding to a microphone during a Democratic caucus and refusing to budge until she was reluctantly recognized by the leadership. Then she successfully pushed through a measure changing her assignment to veterans affairs.

"There are a lot more veterans in my district than there are trees," she said.

"You've committed political suicide" a male colleague intoned. But Mrs. Chisholm not yet dead, is preparing a presidential campaign.

Perhaps most prominent in the field of women's rights is Rep. Bella Abzug D-N.Y., who gets lots of attention but, according to one aide, has a hard time getting favors done for her Manhattan constituents.

Rep. Abzug says of her treatment by male colleagues: "They have all the power, therefore they're very charming."

Also extremely active in pushing for women's rights is Rep. Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii, who says a bill providing nationwide day-care programs for preschool children "is the biggest single legislative success I have achieved since coming to the Congress in 1965."

Reps. Louise Day Hicks, D-Mass., and Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., both have maintained low profiles in Congress since their elections in 1968.

OHIO CASH GRAIN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Department of Agriculture cash grain prices:

No. 2 red wheat mostly 2-3 lower, 1.34-1.41, mostly 1.37-1.39
No. 2 yellow corn mostly 1-2 lower, 82-89, mostly 85-88; No. 2 oats 62-68, mostly 65-68; soybeans mostly 3-4 higher, 2.68-2.91, mostly 2.77-2.90.

GUIDELINES — C. Jackson Grayson, chairman of the President's price commission, tells a Washington news conference about a complex cluster of price guidelines aimed at keeping the average of all post-freeze price increases within 2.5 per cent or less.

Dear Abby: 'Selfish' Bachelor Has Abby's Support

DEAR ABBY: I am interested in the letter from the bachelor who refused the request of his best friend and the friend's wife who asked him to attempt to impregnate her. It seems to me that the bachelor was inordinately selfish, as is true of most bachelors.

Should the bachelor have agreed, the attempt might have resulted in a conception and birth, making at least three people happy, the husband, the wife, and the offspring. Respectfully,

A LOUISVILLE M.D.
DEAR M.D.: Surely, you jest! The possibilities of multiple regrets in such a bizarre arrangement are endless. Man is not like the May fly, whose only purpose in life is to propagate, and having performed that function once, he drops dead.

DEAR ABBY: I know you don't use names or locations, so I'll be perfectly candid. I am in my late 30's and divorced. No children. I am very well off financially because of my divorce settlement. My husband wanted the divorce, not I. (Another woman.) I loved and trusted him and was disillusioned and hurt when he told me.

A few months ago I renewed my acquaintance with a handsome, charming gentleman. Gary (not his real name) is intelligent, sensitive, kind and warm. He is talented and self-supporting, and I love being with him. We've talked of marriage and I am considering it.

Now the problem: Gary is a homosexual, which I knew all along. He is satisfying in every way, and I am not jealous of his male friends. I was so deeply hurt by my husband, I never want that kind of love again. Give me your honest opinion of marriage between Gary and me.

CONSIDERING IT
DEAR CONSIDERING: I have often said, "All that is necessary for a marriage to succeed is that the two people really need each other."

Be sure you and Gary "need" each other for reasons that will endure. It is possible that you were so deeply hurt by a husband who replaced you with another woman that you'd feel more secure in a marriage which is not likely to be threatened by another woman. Enjoy Gary's company for the time being, but don't marry him unless you are sure of your own motivations.

DEAR ABBY: I recently became engaged. My fiancé lives with his widowed mother and wants to continue to after we are married. He says his mother will let me take over the house completely and that we wouldn't be living with HER—she would be living with US!

Furthermore, he says if we don't live with his mother, she will have to sell her house and live in an apartment because she won't be able to run the house on her check alone. Besides that, he has already bought his mother a washer, dryer, television, etc. and he doesn't want to have to buy these things twice.

Abby, I don't think it is possible for me to live in her home and "take it over" with her living there, too. It would still be HER house, and I can't see starting married life with my husband's mother living with us. (Or us with her, however you want to look at it.) Maybe your readers have had experience with this type of set-up. Does it ever work? What do you think?

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: I am sure it has worked for many. But with very few who have the doubts you express. Tell your fiancé exactly how you feel.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Throwaway Car Slated

LONDON (AP) — European and Japanese manufacturers are designing a $400 automobile that can be thrown away in a year, Europa magazine reported Tuesday.

One European builder "has already subjected a prototype to extensive tests," said the magazine printed in the Netherlands.

Another prototype is "well past the drawing-board stage" at the Volkswagen factory in Wolfsburg West Germany. Volvo of Sweden and Toyota of Japan are other manufacturers working on the design of such a car.

The magazine quoted Antonio Gottardi of Turin, an auto executive, as saying his factory would aim at a 9,000-mile life for the revolutionary car. He said the price would be about $400.

The throwaway car is scheduled to be introduced at the New York Automobile Show next spring, it probably will not hit the market until 1975, Europa said.

More than 11,000 students are enrolled at the University of Northern Colorado.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS
The Circleville Board of Zoning Appeals will hold a Public Hearing on Monday, November 19, 1971 at 8:00 P.M. in the Council Chambers at City Hall, Circleville, Ohio, for the purpose of hearing comments on an application for a sign variance and a conditional use permit on the following cases:

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

'Selfish' Bachelor Has Abby's Support

DEAR ABBY: I am interested in the letter from the bachelor who refused the request of his best friend and the friend's wife who asked him to attempt to impregnate her. It seems to me that the bachelor was inordinately selfish, as is true of most bachelors.

Should the bachelor have agreed, the attempt might have resulted in a conception and birth, making at least three people happy, the husband, the wife, and the offspring. Respectfully,

A LOUISVILLE M.D.
DEAR M.D.: Surely, you jest! The possibilities of multiple regrets in such a bizarre arrangement are endless. Man is not like the May fly, whose only purpose in life is to propagate, and having performed that function once, he drops dead.

DEAR ABBY: I know you don't use names or locations, so I'll be perfectly candid. I am in my late 30's and divorced. No children. I am very well off financially because of my divorce settlement. My husband wanted the divorce, not I. (Another woman.) I loved and trusted him and was disillusioned and hurt when he told me.

A few months ago I renewed my acquaintance with a handsome, charming gentleman. Gary (not his real name) is intelligent, sensitive, kind and warm. He is talented and self-supporting, and I love being with him. We've talked of marriage and I am considering it.

Now the problem: Gary is a homosexual, which I knew all along. He is satisfying in every way, and I am not jealous of his male friends. I was so deeply hurt by my husband, I never want that kind of love again. Give me your honest opinion of marriage between Gary and me.

CONSIDERING IT
DEAR ABBY: I have often said, "All that is necessary for a marriage to succeed is that the two people really need each other."

Be sure you and Gary "need" each other for reasons that will endure. It is possible that you were so deeply hurt by a husband who replaced you with another woman that you'd feel more secure in a marriage which is not likely to be threatened by another woman. Enjoy Gary's company for the time being, but don't marry him unless you are sure of your own motivations.

DEAR ABBY: I recently became engaged. My fiancé lives with his widowed mother and wants to continue to after we are married. He says his mother will let me take over the house completely and that we wouldn't be living with her—she would be living with us!

Furthermore, he says if we don't live with his mother, she will have to sell her house and live in an apartment because she won't be able to run the house on her check alone. Besides that, he has already bought his mother a washer, dryer, television, etc. and he doesn't want to have to buy these things twice.

Abby, I don't think it is possible for me to live in her home and "take it over" with her living there, too. It would still be HER house, and I can't see starting married life with my husband's mother living with us. (Or us with her, however you want to look at it.) Maybe your readers have had experience with this type of set-up. Does it ever work? What do you think?

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: I am sure it has worked for many. But with very few who have the doubts you express. Tell your fiancé exactly how you feel.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Women In Congress Fewer, More Powerful Than Ever

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Men Only" read a sign in the U.S. House of Representatives when Jeanette Rankin arrived to take her seat.

That was in 1917, three years before American women won the right to vote, and Rep. Rankin, R-Mont., was the first member of her sex to win a seat in Congress.

Today the sign is long gone and women make up a majority of the American electorate. But they make up less than 2 per cent of the U.S. Congress where their number has declined by 40 per cent during the past decade.

Nevertheless the dozen women now serving in Congress exercise more power than most of the 80 who have followed in Jeanette Rankin's footsteps.

The most powerful is Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, the only woman in the Senate and the only member of her sex to have served in both chambers of Congress.

She was elected to her late husband's House seat in 1940 and to the Senate in 1949 and now is ranking Republican on the Armed Services Committee.

Fiercely independent, she often casts the decisive ballot on close issues.

"A woman's viewpoint should be objective and free of any emphasis on feminine interests," says Mr. Smith, who has shown little interest in the equal rights issue.

The only woman to vote against the equal rights amendment recently passed by the House is Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., who shares with Sen. Smith the distinction of being the only women in Congress today who succeeded their husbands.

In contrast, of the 20 women in Congress when the high point of female representation was reached in 1962, ten had succeeded their husbands.

"There are differences between male and female roles in our society and I hope there always are," Mrs. Sullivan said in explaining her vote against the amendment.

In Congress since 1952, she holds the longevity record among women in the House. Chairman of the subcommittee on consumer affairs, she is especially proud of having introduced and guided to passage the truth-in-lending bill and of having authored the first food stamp program.

A power in the House is Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., chairman of a subcommittee on higher education and an influential force on the parent Education and Labor Committee.

Her legislative skill was demonstrated recently when the House staged its longest, scrappiest session this year before passing the $23-billion education bill that came from her subcommittee.

Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., the first black woman to serve in Congress staged what was probably the first successful single-handed revolt against the venerable committee assignment system.

Representing a Brooklyn district she was incensed at being assigned to a subcommittee dealing with rural development and forestry.

She surprised colleagues by striding to a microphone during a Democratic caucus and refusing to budge until she was reluctantly recognized by the leadership. Then she successfully pushed through a measure changing her assignment to veterans affairs.

"There are a lot more veterans in my district than there are trees," she said.

"You've committed political suicide," a male colleague intoned. But Mrs. Chisholm not yet dead, is preparing a presidential campaign.

Perhaps most prominent in the field of women's rights is Rep. Bella Abzug D-N.Y., who gets lots of attention but, according to one aide, has a hard time getting favors done for her Manhattan constituents.

Rep. Abzug says of her treatment by male colleagues: "They have all the power, therefore they're very charming."

Also extremely active in pushing for women's rights is Rep. Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii, who says a bill providing nationwide day-care programs for preschool children "is the biggest single legislative success I have achieved since coming to the Congress in 1965."

Reps. Louise Day Hicks, D-Mass., and Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., both have maintained low profiles in Congress since their elections in 1968.

County-Wide Tuberculosis Testing Begins Tuesday

The Pickaway County Health Department began county wide Tuberculosis skin test Tuesday.

Aided by state health authorities, Mrs. Helen Pickens, county health nurse, and Mrs. Effie Davis, headed a delegation to Logan Elm school district Tuesday to begin the two-week long tests.

Mrs. Davis, of the county health department, will continue testing Wednesday, servicing the Teays Valley district. And Mrs. Pickens will work the Westfall school district.

All first grade, seventh grade and twelfth grade students in each district will be tested, along with newcomers and school employees.

The health team will conduct a reading of the tests Nov. 18 and 19.

To complete tuberculin testing, chest X-rays will be given in the county over a three-day period.

Though the X-rays are primarily aimed at positive reactors to the TB skin tests, anyone may use the facilities.

Nov. 22 the unit will be in Ashville at the Teays Valley High School from 2-4 p.m. and 5-7 p.m.

The unit will be located at the Williamsport pavilion Nov. 23 from 2-4 p.m. and 5-7 p.m.

Final day for X-rays will be Nov. 24, when the unit will be at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds from 2-4 p.m. and 5-7 p.m.

The X-ray unit and tests are sponsored by the Ohio Department of Health, the South Central TB and RD Association, the Circleville City Department of Health and the Pickaway County Department of Health.

In addition the County Health Department will remain open 9-12 a.m. Nov. 27 to administer skin tests to anyone missing one of the scheduled sessions. The department is especially concerned with testing pre-school children.

TB TEST — Roger Wallace, a technician at the Ohio Department of Public Health Services, administers the tuberculosis skin test to a Logan Elm student. The County Health Department, with State aid, opened their annual skin testing program Tuesday, inoculating the senior class at Logan Elm High School. Mrs. Helen Pickens, County health nurse, and E. Miller Hundley, a County education supervisor, assisted with the testing.

How The Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Mild weather will continue across Ohio through Thursday, with a slight chance of showers in the northwestern corner of the state late Thursday.

Fair skies prevailed overnight with lows shortly before dawn mostly in the upper 30s and 40s. The coldest reading was a chilly 31 degrees at Zanesville. Some light fog was reported.

Partly cloudy skies will dominate today and tonight with highs ranging from the upper 50s to low 60s in the north and from the mid 60s to low 70s in the south.

Lows Thursday morning will be in the 40s and low 50s, while afternoon highs are expected to be a bit warmer than today.

A high pressure area is dominating the state's weather, while a cold front well to the west of Ohio so far has shown no tendency to move toward the state.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Partly cloudy and mild tonight. Lows in the 40s. Increasing cloudiness north with a chance of showers northwest Thursday. Partly cloudy south. Highs from the 60s to low 70s.

NORTHWEST INLAND — Partly cloudy and mild tonight. Lows tonight in the 40s. Increasing cloudiness Thursday with a chance of showers. Highs in the 60s.

LAKE SHORE, NORTHEAST INLAND, EAST CENTRAL — Partly cloudy and mild tonight. Lows in the 40s. Variable cloudiness Thursday. Highs in the 60s.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL, SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST — Partly cloudy and mild tonight and Thursday. Lows tonight from the mid 40s to low 50s. Highs Thursday in the upper 60s and low 70s.

Rights Commission Claims Nixon Leadership Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Rights Commission says President Nixon has failed to provide leadership for efforts against discrimination. But its chairman says federal officials must share the blame.

The commission issued Tuesday a report entitled, "The Federal Civil Rights Enforcement Effort: One Year Later."

Agency by agency, the report outlined federal efforts in carrying out antidiscrimination policies in hiring and promotion of minority employees. Each agency also was assessed on progress in enforcing a law banning discrimination where ever federal money is spent.

"The President's posture as gleaned from his statements and other actions over the last six months have not been such as to provide the clear affirmative policy direction necessary to assure that the full weight of the federal government will be behind the right to secure equal rights for minorities," the report stated.

Within minutes after the document was released, the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, commission chairman and president of Notre Dame University, read a statement in which he said he spoke for all six members of his panel:

"Those who keep pinning the blame entirely on the President tend to forget the wide discretion that federal officials have in performing their duties. We cannot agree with those who claim that the problem lies solely with this administration or with the President personally."

Asked about the difference in tone and emphasis, Hesburgh answered, "The report says what it says and we stand on what it says."

Health Council To Discuss Sewage, Water

The question of small local water and sewage treatment plants versus county-wide facilities will be included on the agenda on Thursday evening when the Pickaway County Health Council holds its quarterly meeting.

Also on the agenda, will be a discussion of recent developments in the reorganization of health districts in Ohio, the possible use of modular homes to provide low income housing and the latest developments in the Berger Hospital expansion.

Grant A. Dremmen, associate executive director of the Mid-Ohio Health Planning Federation and William Sellers, environmental specialist on the Mid-Ohio staff will attend this meeting.

Mrs. Sterling Poling, chairman of the county council, is urging all members to attend this meeting and is inviting anyone else interested in the items to be discussed to be present. The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the dining room at Berger Hospital.

Netzley Hits OEA Stand On Budget

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Rep. Robert Netzley says the Ohio Education Association has been deluding the people and teachers into thinking recent tax increases were for education.

"The facts show the opposite is true," the Laura Republican said Tuesday. "Taxes were raised primarily for welfare in the 1967 and 1969 bienniums."

Netzley said the OEA has agreed to give welfare interests the biggest share of any state tax increase.

And he contended the teachers' union helped defeat the income tax bill last week in the Senate, although the lion's share would have gone toward education.

Netzley said although the OEA was publicly promoting education expenditures, "it had its band wagon hitched to welfare spending."

Another Republican, Rep. Rodney Hughes of Bellefontaine, said Ohio's welfare rolls are increasing while the case load nationally is declining.

"Regardless of legislation passed by the General Assembly," he said, "only the Ohio Department of Public Welfare can take action necessary to reduce the welfare rolls in Ohio."

Bus Line Cuts Back On Service

CINCINNATI (AP) — The financially-troubled Ohio Bus Lines, Inc., began reducing service today—especially between here and Dayton.

Gerald Robbins, president of the 50-year-old company which operates in Southwestern Ohio, disclosed the cutbacks Tuesday and said 23 of a total of about 100 drivers, mechanics and administrative personnel are being laid off.

He said there is now only one run from Cincinnati to Dayton each day and only two runs from Dayton to Cincinnati. The bus for Dayton is scheduled to leave here at 6:30 a.m. The buses from Dayton depart at 9:05 a.m. and 5:45 p.m.

He said a Hamilton-Middletown-Dayton route would be taken over by the Mega City Bus Line of Dayton.

Robbins said posters were put up in buses a few weeks back alerting riders of the company's plans.

The company filed bankruptcy Sept. 29. Robbins is being permitted to continue operating the line as long as possible under the "debtor possession" clause of the Federal Bankruptcy Act.

He said he hoped the cutbacks and layoffs would allow the firm to solve its financial difficulties. Robbins said the cutbacks were being made at the suggestion of transit experts who studied the company's operation.

Judge Dismisses Assault Charge

CLEVELAND (AP) — Common Pleas Court Judge John Patton dismissed an assault case against Afro Set leader Harlel Jones Tuesday after declaring that the state's prime witness "lied either to the grand jury or to this court."

"There is not any iota of evidence in this case that would support the indictment," Patton declared as he abruptly ended Jones' trial on charges of kidnapping, aggravated assault and shooting with intent to kill.

The victim of the alleged assault, Julius Nelson Jr., 20, a member of another Cleveland black militant group, testified that Jones tried to stop his associates from pistol whipping Nelson.

Bus Line Cuts Back On Service

CINCINNATI (AP) — The financially-troubled Ohio Bus Lines, Inc., began reducing service today—especially between here and Dayton.

Gerald Robbins, president of the 50-year-old company which operates in Southwestern Ohio, disclosed the cutbacks Tuesday and said 23 of a total of about 100 drivers, mechanics and administrative personnel are being laid off.

He said there is now only one run from Cincinnati to Dayton each day and only two runs from Dayton to Cincinnati. The bus for Dayton is scheduled to leave here at 6:30 a.m. The buses from Dayton depart at 9:05 a.m. and 5:45 p.m.

He said a Hamilton-Middletown-Dayton route would be taken over by the Mega City Bus Line of Dayton.

Robbins said posters were put up in buses a few weeks back alerting riders of the company's plans.

The company filed bankruptcy Sept. 29. Robbins is being permitted to continue operating the line as long as possible under the "debtor possession" clause of the Federal Bankruptcy Act.

He said he hoped the cutbacks and layoffs would allow the firm to solve its financial difficulties. Robbins said the cutbacks were being made at the suggestion of transit experts who studied the company's operation.

Judge Dismisses Assault Charge

CLEVELAND (AP) — Common Pleas Court Judge John Patton dismissed an assault case against Afro Set leader Harlel Jones Tuesday after declaring that the state's prime witness "lied either to the grand jury or to this court."

"There is not any iota of evidence in this case that would support the indictment," Patton declared as he abruptly ended Jones' trial on charges of kidnapping, aggravated assault and shooting with intent to kill.

The victim of the alleged assault, Julius Nelson Jr., 20, a member of another Cleveland black militant group, testified that Jones tried to stop his associates from pistol whipping Nelson.

Rail Union

Pay Boost

12 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railroad signalmen's union announced Tuesday tentative agreement on a new 42-month contract that may prove to be the first big test of the Pay Board's post-freeze wage guidelines.

Terms of the settlement were not immediately announced, but it was thought likely it would follow the pattern set by many earlier settlements providing other rail unions with wage increases averaging 42 per cent over 42 months.

This is roughly 12 per cent a year, which exceeds the Pay Board's general rule that new contracts may not contain increases of more than 5.5 per cent a year.

Charles J. Chamberlain, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, said terms of the agreement will be announced Saturday when the union's 75 general chairmen meet in Chicago to ratify the pact.

Chamberlain said he intended to consult with the Pay Board about the agreement.

Contracts covering more than 5,000 workers must receive advance approval by the Pay Board before they may become effective. The signalmen claim 12,000 members, so apparently this requirement will apply to them.

Canned Laughter

Stops Speaker

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Atty. Gen. Richard Turner found it impossible to continue a speech momentarily Monday when uproarious laughter filled the Statehouse legislative chamber.

Gov. Robert Ray caught Turner unaware by activating a small canned laughter device.

Members of the Iowa Executive Council, who were meeting to hear Turner's address, had seen the device earlier when Gov. Ray showed it to them while Turner was out of the room.

When the laughter subsided, Turner regained his composure, finished his address and left the room, still unaware of what the governor had done.

we care

something for "Harry the Hacker"

Lots of us are known as, "Harry the Hacker," because of what we do to a Christmas Turkey.

The secret to classic carving is a very sharp, thin-bladed knife. Allow bird to sit in roasting pan 15 to 30 minutes. It will slice cleaner and the juices will be absorbed, too. Follow these simple directions:

1. Cut off leg by drawing knife deeply between leg and body through hip joint. Press leg away from body and remove.
2. Before slicing breast, make a deep horizontal cut to bone in breast, just above the wing.
3. Beginning about halfway up breast, slice downward with straight even strokes until slices fall free at cut.
4. Cut off wing through shoulder joint. Cut off wing tip. When one side is clean, turn platter and carve other side.

One final thing you can do for "Harry" ... buy your turkey at A&P.

Our Super-Right Turkeys are all Grade "A" birds. Harry will carve such beautiful slices you'll want to rechristen him, "Sam the Surgeon."

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC and CBS moved Tuesday to cut their losses and attempt to improve their schedules. NBC made its move 10 days earlier.

The upheaval begins at the end of this month and continues through the first of the year. Viewers just settling into their viewing habits will have to start over.

A dozen or so programs have been shifted to new nights and different time periods. Twelve or temporarily retired, 10 of them new series. All but one have been scraping the bottom of the Nielsen ratings list.

Network television's 1971 season seems to have demonstrated clearly one fact: Big motion picture stars do not necessarily make big television stars. The same is true about singing idols.

Among the ABC programs which will soon disappear are Shirley MacLaine's "Shirley's World," Anthony Quinn's "The Man and the City," and Bobby Sherman's "Getting Together." Henry Fonda's "The Smith Family" will be shelved until spring, presumably returning only for reruns. None of the shows, despite the luster of the stars, made the grade with the television fans.

CBS, to nobody's surprise, will soon divest itself of "The Bearcats" and "Chicago Teddy Bears" neither of which was worth salvaging. The network had tough luck when Sandy Duncan's "Funny Face" had to be discontinued the rest of this season after its young star's eye surgery and convalescence. Since the comedy series has proved one of this season's hits, it will undoubtedly be picked up again next season.

NBC's "Sarge" tried to combine action and religion in a hero who was a priest and had once been a cop, but the network found it didn't work. "The D. A." lacked something it contained in a couple of pilot shows, and "The Funny Side" wasn't funny enough. They will soon be gone.

More shows will disappear quietly. But the "Second Season" newcomers announced by the networks really don't sound much more exciting. The singing team of Sonny and Cher, introduced to viewers in their summer series, will be moving into a Monday night CBS spot. Don Rickles in a situation comedy appears to have a break in his spot in the schedule—no competition except ABC's "Love, American Style."

Two shows which will have a major problem called Flip Wilson are CBS's long-running "My Three Sons" which is being moved into an early Thursday night spot along with something called "Me and the Chimp" with Ted Bessell—former TV fiancé of Marlo Thomas' "That Girl."

ABC, with an hour to fill Monday nights will have a "Show of the Week," and throw in all sorts of specials, including Jacques Cousteau's programs, George Plimpton's exploits and its "Monogram" series, to fill the time.

Seek Agreement On Organization To Fight Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is 350-10-5 for one plan of attack on cancer, the Senate is 79-10-1 for another, the President's blessing is on both, and a compromise-seeker hopes to settle the dispute by Christmas.

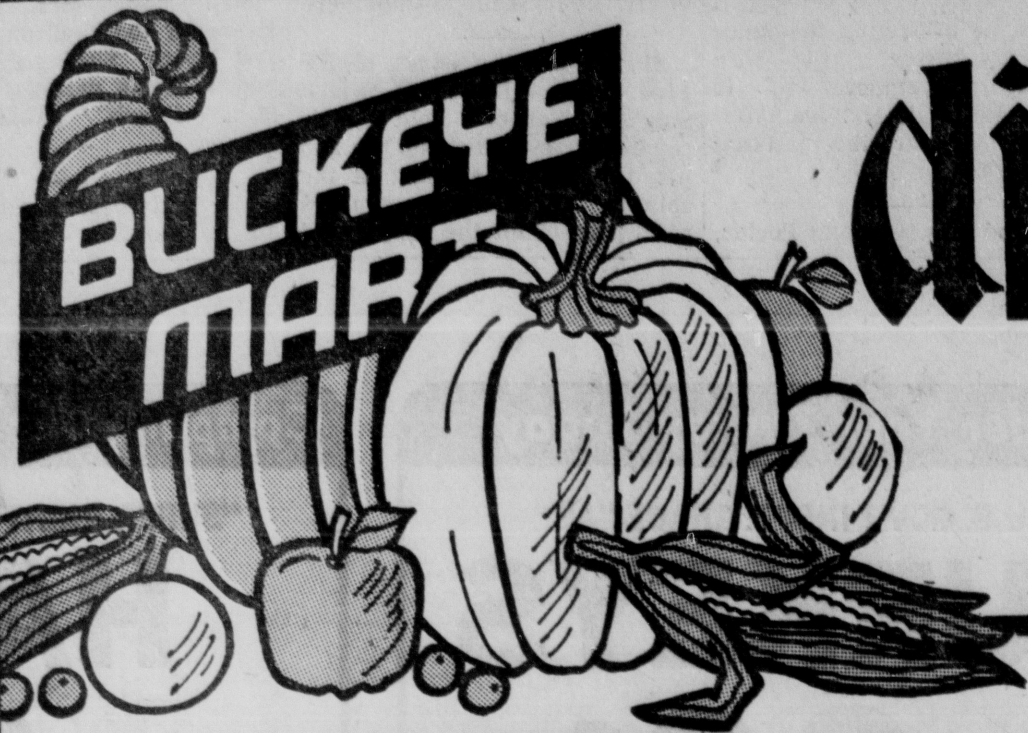

Chairman Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., of the House public health subcommittee, chief author of the House bill, which passed Monday, said he would press for a congressional conference committee to reach agreement on a final version before Christmas.

The House voted to fight cancer with a $1.6-billion federal check over a three-year span and with a three-member panel to monitor the progress, effectiveness and operations of the campaign against the disease.

The controversy involves the basic structure of the government's organizational approach to helping scientists find the cause and develop a cure for cancer.

BETTY BROWN'S HOMEMAKER TALK

TURKEY TALK
Now is the time to be thinking about ordering your holiday turkey. Whether you buy a fresh or frozen turkey the following guide will help you select the right size and type for your needs.

HOW MUCH TO BUY
When buying whole ready-to-cook turkeys under 12 pounds, allow 3/4 to 1 pound per serving. For larger birds allow 1/2 to 3/4 pounds. With un-cooked boneless turkey roasts allow 1/3 pound per serving. In most cases, large turkeys are more economical than the smaller birds and are excellent for use in future meals.

THAWING AND STORAGE
FROZEN TURKEYS: Turkeys frozen with neck and giblets inside the body and neck cavities need to be thawed before cooking. When turkey is thawed, remove neck and giblets, cook them promptly and refrigerate.

The method of thawing used will depend on amount of time and space that is available.

a) Thawing in refrigerator - Place turkey, still in its original wrap, on tray or drip pan. Place in refrigerator to thaw.

b) Thawing in cool or cold water - Place turkey, still in its original wrap, in sink covered with cool or cold water. Change water often to hasten thawing.

c) Thawing at room temperature - Leave in original wrap and place frozen turkey in brown paper bag, or wrap in 2 or 3 layers of newspapers.

Place on tray in baking pan and allow to thaw at room temperature. Thaw until turkey is pliable and neck and giblets can be removed easily. Cook turkey immediately.

FRESH CHILLED TURKEY
Fresh chilled turkey can be held 5 to 6 days in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Make sure any wrappings are loose enough to allow some air circulation. Remove giblets, cook promptly and refrigerate until ready to use.

POLAR CAP — Two photos at top, taken by Mariner 9 and combined to form a mosaic, show the remnants of the south polar cap of Mars, dimly seen through a great dust storm which has obscured first photos televised back to earth. The same area was photographed in 1969 by Mariner 7, as shown in bottom

Tropical Storm Laura Circles In Caribbean Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical Storm Laura drifted on a circular course today after lashing western Cuba with heavy rains and winds up to 70 miles per hour.

Early today the big storm was centered some 170 miles southwest of Havana and 260 miles southwest of Key West, Fla.

The National Hurricane Center said Laura had dumped 14 inches of rain on Cuba's Isle of Pines in 24 hours.

The hurricane center said steering currents were weak, but indications were that Laura was making a loop and her ultimate course was in doubt.

Although her winds were just 5 m.p.h. below hurricane strength, weather forecasters said there was no indication Laura would increase in strength during the next 24 hours.

Gale warnings were discontinued at Key West and the

Woman's Murder, Cooking Fork Linked

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati homicide detectives believe that a cooking fork was used to kill a woman whose body was found at her residence here Tuesday.

Eron Hines, 72, was found dead by her husband. Police said that there were signs of a struggle near the body.

They Pass Laredo

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — This border city has registered its best summer tourist season yet, the American Automobile Association reports.

Miss Velia Uribe, manager of the office, said 209,824 U.S. tourists crossed here en route to the interior of Mexico during the 1971 summer months.

Fruits, Soup, Hot Water Staple Of Red Delegates

NEW YORK (AP) — Red China's representatives at the United Nations stoked up on fresh fruit, soup and copious mugs of hot water before entering the diplomatic arena.

"Hot water is about all they do drink," said John J. Amodeo, director of catering at the Roosevelt Hotel where Peking's delegation is staying.

Wine and liquor are no rarity in China, but the U.N. envoys have so far shunned spirits.

"They have had one guest that I know of—an Albanian," said Amodeo "and when he had dinner in the private dining room we set up for them, he asked for a glass of beer."

"Out of the 50 Chinese sitting in that room, only one joined the guest in a beer."

Peking may not approve of

U.S. foreign policy, but so far it has found nothing wrong with American food.

"They have certain preferences such as fresh fruit instead of dessert and all their meat must be well done," said Amodeo.

Each evening Amodeo visits the 14th floor where the delegation is staying and goes over the menu for the next day with Jung Tien, a member of the delegation.

"His English is what you might call limited, but he won't use an interpreter, so it's pretty slow going," said Amodeo.

"The first day the Chinese arrived we served them filet mignon rare, and they only picked at it," he said in an interview Tuesday.

"They were very nice about it, but they got the message across—no rare meat. In fact, they prefer fish, chicken and pork to beef. They also favor German potato salad, but no mayonnaise."

"I still think they would go for beef prepared the way they like meat," said Amodeo. "I'm

Nursing Homes Get State OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Seven nursing homes have avoided threatened loss of state aid by complying with health and safety requirements, Welfare Director John Hansan reported Tuesday.

The nursing homes were among 25 notified recently that they would no longer receive payments for the care of welfare recipients.

Correcting deficiencies to comply with regulations were: Arcadia Manor, Ambassador No. 1 and Ambassador No. 2, all of Cincinnati; Alberts Nursing Home of Warren, Roselawn Nursing Home of Spencerville and the two Mayfair Nursing Care Centers of Columbus.

Death Driver 'Confirmed Alcoholic'

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The driver of a runaway car that bolted onto a sidewalk in downtown Youngstown Friday killing seven persons and injuring eight has been described as "a confirmed alcoholic" by Lt. Donald Komara, Youngstown deputy chief of police.

At a news conference Tuesday, Komara said laboratory and medical tests showed James Anderson, 30, of Youngstown was intoxicated at the time of the accident, causing police to charge him with seven counts of first-degree vehicular homicide.

Anderson was to be arraigned on the charges today.

Other charges filed against Anderson were driving without an operator's license and trying to escape twice from police guard at South Side Hospital where he had been taken after he started to shake and sweat in his jail cell Friday night.

Komara said Anderson did not have a license, and that he has had five traffic violation convictions since 1960, including four of driving without a license in 1960 and 1961 and one speeding conviction in 1963.

Both of Anderson's escape attempts came Sunday when he wriggled out of leather restraining straps at the hospital and sprinted down a hallway. Both times he was apprehended quickly by police who were stationed outside his room.

Anderson is now back in the Youngstown city jail.

Transport Advisory Committee To Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Reports from the administrative planning, finance and intergovernmental relations subcommittees will be presented at the final meeting Friday of the Governor's Transportation Advisory Committee.

The reports will be turned over to the legislative subcommittee, which will draft legislation to form a Department of Transportation in Ohio.

Speaker at the meeting will be Norman Erbe, former governor of Iowa and now an officer of the U.S. Department of Transportation.

going to propose pot roast and see what happens."

Eating is not a social function with the delegation.

"They told us at the outset that they preferred their meals served buffet style and they consume a full dinner in about 25 minutes or less," said Amodeo. "There is hardly any conversation during the meal."

Since the delegation pays for its room and board at fixed intervals, there is no tipping. But the Chinese "always check the bill to make sure that the waiters and chambermaids are remembered," said Amodeo.

JOBLESS FUTURE — Lloyd Uhl, left, a crew member, and Capt. Leo Lady, skipper of the whaler Donna Mae stand on the deck of the ship at

Point Richmond, Calif., contemplating a future which may mean unemployment before Christmas. They man one of three whalers still operating in the United States, but which will cease operations Dec. 15 when a government ban on whaling becomes effective.

POLAR CAP — Two photos at top, taken by Mariner 9 and combined to form a mosaic, show the remnants of the south polar cap of Mars, dimly seen through a great dust storm which has obscured first photos televised back to earth. The same area was photographed in 1969 by Mariner 7, as shown in bottom two photos, when the entire region was covered by dry ice. Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, where the pictures were released, said "the strange quasars near features of 1969 have been replaced by a number of bright curved appendages never before seen on Mars and, at this time, are unexplained."

Tropical Storm Laura Circles In Caribbean Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical Storm Laura drifted on a circular course today after lashing western Cuba with heavy rains and winds up to 70 miles per hour.

Early today the big storm was centered some 170 miles southwest of Havana and 260 miles southwest of Key West, Fla.

The National Hurricane Center said Laura had dumped 14 inches of rain on Cuba's Isle of Pines in 24 hours.

The hurricane center said steering currents were weak, but indications were that Laura was making a loop and her ultimate course was in doubt.

Although her winds were just 5 m.p.h. below hurricane strength, weather forecasters said there was no indication Laura would increase in strength during the next 24 hours.

Gale warnings were discontinued at Key West and the Dry Tortugas today at 5 a.m. EDT.

The center said gales extended 150 miles north and 100 miles south of the storm.

Radio Havana said Tuesday afternoon that there was no loss of life when Laura belted Westernmost Pinar del Rio Province, but more than 20,000 people were evacuated from low-lying coastal regions, all flights over Cuban territory were suspended, bus service through the island was curtailed and more than 50 ships were secured in Havana harbor.

Along Florida's lower east coast, seas were rough and small boats stayed in harbor, but many young surfers turned out to take advantage of rare five-foot waves that rolled in on beaches around Fort Lauderdale.

Claim Of Illegal Draft Dismissed By U.S. Judge

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two men who claim they were drafted illegally because the Draft Extension Act doesn't take effect until Dec. 28 have been overruled by U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Lambros.

Judge Lambros however did grant Ira Moses, 23, of Pittsburgh and Dale Peebles of Medina a stay of execution on their draft orders to permit appeals to higher courts.

Peebles was scheduled for induction today, and Moses, formerly of Cleveland, was to be inducted Tuesday.

Judge Lambros ruled that since both had held student deferments which postponed their being drafted under the 1967 Selective Service Act, they actually were inducted under that act, even though it expired last July 1.

Woman's Murder, Cooking Fork Linked

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati homicide detectives believe that a cooking fork was used to kill a woman whose body was found at her residence here Tuesday.

Eron Hines, 72, was found dead by her husband. Police said that there were signs of a struggle near the body.

They Pass Laredo

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — This border city has registered its best summer tourist season yet, the American Automobile Association reports.

Miss Velia Uribe, manager of the office, said 209,824 U.S. tourists crossed here en route to the interior of Mexico during the 1971 summer months.

Fruits, Soup, Hot Water Staple Of Red Delegates

NEW YORK (AP) — Red China's representatives at the United Nations stoked up on fresh fruit, soup and copious mugs of hot water before entering the diplomatic arena.

"Hot water is about all they do drink," said John J. Amodeo, director of catering at the Roosevelt Hotel where Peking's delegation is staying.

Wine and liquor are no rarity in China, but the U.N. envoys have so far shunned spirits.

"They have had one guest that I know of—an Albanian," said Amodeo "and when he had dinner in the private dining room we set up for them, he asked for a glass of beer."

"Out of the 50 Chinese sitting in that room, only one joined the guest in a beer."

Peking may not approve of

U.S. foreign policy, but so far it has found nothing wrong with American food.

"They have certain preferences such as fresh fruit instead of dessert and all their meat must be well done," said Amodeo.

Each evening Amodeo visits the 14th floor where the delegation is staying and goes over the menu for the next day with Jung Tien, a member of the delegation.

"His English is what you might call limited, but he won't use an interpreter, so it's pretty slow going," said Amodeo.

"The first day the Chinese arrived we served them filet mignon rare, and they only picked at it," he said in an interview Tuesday.

"They were very nice about it, but they got the message across—no rare meat. In fact, they prefer fish, chicken and pork to beef. They also favor German potato salad, but no mayonnaise."

"I still think they would go for beef prepared the way they like meat," said Amodeo. "I'm

Nursing Homes Get State OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Seven nursing homes have avoided threatened loss of state aid by complying with health and safety requirements, Welfare Director John Hansan reported Tuesday.

The nursing homes were among 25 notified recently that they would no longer receive payments for the care of welfare recipients.

Correcting deficiencies to comply with regulations were: Arcadia Manor, Ambassador No. 1 and Ambassador No. 2, all of Cincinnati; Alberts Nursing Home of Warren, Roselawn Nursing Home of Spencerville and the two Mayfair Nursing Care Centers of Columbus.

going to propose pot roast and see what happens."

Eating is not a social function with the delegation.

"They told us at the outset that they preferred their meals served buffet style and they consume a full dinner in about 25 minutes or less," said Amodeo. "There is hardly any conversation during the meal."

Since the delegation pays for its room and board at fixed intervals, there is no tipping. But the Chinese "always check the bill to make sure that the waiters and chambermaids are remembered," said Amodeo.

JOBLESS FUTURE — Lloyd Uhl, left, a crew member, and Capt. Leo Lady, skipper of the whaler Donna Mae stand on the deck of the ship at

Point Richmond, Calif., contemplating a future which may mean unemployment before Christmas. They man one of three whalers still operating in the United States, but which will cease operations Dec. 15 when a government ban on whaling becomes effective.

Hold Men For Selling 2 Children

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Two Oklahoma men, one of them a Boy Scout leader, were arrested in Jacksonville Tuesday night after police said they sold two children to an undercover agent for $7,000 and a used car. Officers said William O'Hara, 37, and Robert Westenhaver, 22, were held without bond in the Duval County Jail on a charge of attempting to sell a 2-year-old boy and a 3-year-old girl to a Jacksonville couple. Officers said O'Hara, who carried cards identifying him as the leader of Boy Scout Troop 185 in Oklahoma City, and Westenhaver contacted the couple several weeks ago and offered to sell the children. The couple cooperated with police and a court-authorized telephone tap was used to locate the men when they drove to Jacksonville yesterday. Detective W. E. Beecham said Oklahoma City police were attempting to learn where the children came from. The children were placed for the night in a private home in Jacksonville. Beecham said O'Hara and Westenhaver both said they were painters. They offered no resistance when they were arrested at a local motel, he said.

Highway Bids Opened

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Highway Department Tuesday received apparent low bids totaling $132 million for 13 projects. The total state estimate was $149 million. Six bids were deferred for various reasons. The largest contract offer was for widening and improving U.S. 22 in Lancaster. F.H. Brewer Co., Inc., Lancaster, submitted a low bid of $754,116. Next largest was in Cuyahoga County for improvements to Interstate 71, the Medina Freeway, in Cleveland. M.F. Velotta and Sons, Inc., Solon, submitted the low bid of $180,127. Deferred projects include widening and improving Ohio 91 in Solon, providing highway traffic signs and a freeway surveillance and traffic control system in Hamilton County, relocating 6.9 miles of Ohio 2 in Erie County, and relocating 2.6 miles of Ohio 800 in Harrison County.

Pleasantview Church Plans Homecoming

Pleasantview United Methodist Church, Saltcreek Twp., will hold its annual homecoming Sunday. Church services will be from 11 to noon, a carry-in dinner will be held at noon, and a song fest from 1 to 2 p.m. The public is invited. Pleasantview Church is located about 10 miles southeast of Circleville on Route 56.

Wilmington School Levy Up For Vote

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Voters in the Wilmington City School District will cast ballots Dec. 14 on a three-mill additional levy. If the levy is approved, it would raise $84,000 and permit the school system to immediately borrow money from 1972 state foundation funds. The money would allow the system to continue operation until Christmas vacation. If the levy is rejected, schools would probably be shut down Dec. 15 because that is when an official audit indicates the system would run out of money for this year's operation. Wilmington Supt. Theodore Nicholson said Tuesday that he talked via telephone with Dr. Herbert Burn, finance chairman of the state education association, and Brown informed him the foundation funds for the district have been exhausted. A 2.1-mill additional levy was passed at the recent general election, but Nicholson said Brown told him the state cannot recommend that the district borrow against that levy. The decision to seek the three-mill levy came at the school system's board of education meeting Monday night.

many pictures and literature.

Boarding TWA flight no. 443 on a bright and beautiful Friday at 8 a.m. the trio was a part of the Dayton Senior Citizens annual Hawaiian Holiday tour. Landing at Honolulu, Oahu they housed at the Sheraton Waikiki Hotel for the next eight days. They enjoyed the Aloha Week Festivities which included a colorful parade complete with bands, floats, soldiers and all that makes a successful parade. They were at Iolani Palace which was erected during the reign of King Kalakaua (1874-1891) and which is the only royal palace in the United States. They attended services at Mokuiaikaua Church, the oldest church in the islands. The rock walls were constructed in 1837 and mortared with coral with hand hewn Ohia beams.

In Honolulu, the capitol, they also enjoyed the Polynesian Cultural Center with authentic reproductions of six villages. In the Amphitheater, a giant cast of entertainers present a lavish production of the pageantry, music and dancing at Polynesia. Included at the center was a Polynesian buffet prepared from native recipes. Here, too, they visited Pearl Harbor and the USS Arizona Memorial that honors America's heroic war dead of Dec. 7, 1941 in the Pacific Ocean area and provides a monument to national vigilance. On the westward interior slope of the famed Punchbowl Crater is erected the monument, The Gardens of the Missing.

Engraved on Trani stone in the beautiful Courts of Honor are the names of 26,280 missing soldiers of WWII and the Korean Conflict. A tree is growing in memorial for each father and son. Impressive! The second Island toured was Kauai with the thrilling ride up the river on a large launch to the Fern Grotto, a cave where thousands of ferns grow downward from the roof. Here they ensconced at the charming Coco Palms Hotel with their famous torch lighting ceremony. On Kauai they toured Waimea Canyon, Poipu Beach, the Sprouting Horn and Kakuolono Park. The third island was Molokai which is the last to be developed for tourists. This island is very dry (rainfall wise). Lots of surfing is done here.

Here, too, is the ancient Phallic Stone worshipped as a symbol of generative power by early Hawaiians. The tour took them to see Kaunakakai, Wailua, Halawa Valley and the famed Kalaupap Lookout. Island number four was Maui with the Iao Valley and Lahaina. At Iao they saw the "Needle", a fern covered volcanic spire resembling, naturally, a needle. At Lahaina is the largest Banyan tree with its aerial root system considered by most folks to be the most interesting tree growing in Hawaii. These trees attain great size and this particular one was planted in 1873 and now shades an area measuring over three quarters of an acre. At Lahaina Jodo. Mission is the largest statue of Buddha in the western world. It was cast of bronze by artisans in the Temple City of Kyoto, Japan. Next hop was to Kona or Hawaii.

This is a historical city with such legends and landmarks as the City of Refuge, St. Benedict's Catholic Church, known as "The Painted Church" because of murals and frescoes. On Hawaii Island is the Black Sand Beach at Punaluu (Ruth brought a sample home) Hawaii National Park, a mountainous volcanic wonderland with mysteriously steaming lava tubes, sulphur banks (quite yellow says Ruth) and Fern Tree Forests. Some of the exotic fauna and flora was the Monkey Pod Tree which is the main source of hardwood for island carvers. It is also the most perfectly shaped tree found in Hawaii. The fascinating Sausage Tree, the Papaya, the Lava trees and Molds Stone trees left by receding molten lava. Breathtaking flowers everywhere and of course, pineapple in abundance. Also of interest was the fact the sugar cane fields are set afire before actual harvesting is done.

Sugar cane leaves are placed in the lava from the active volcanoes and allowed to mulch for a year or two after which the area is cultivated and becomes "farmable." At Hilo the travelers boarded United Airlines flight no. 958 at 5:25 p.m. seventeen days hence their arrival and departed homeward. They had a stopover in San Francisco, thence to Chicago, thusly to Dayton and Home Sweet Home for the Smileys. Ruth (Mrs. Shippe, that is) guested with them for a week before arriving in our village. She will be here with her mother until next Wednesday at which time they both will go to Dayton for Thanksgiving with the Ray Smileys who will also be celebrating their 50th Wedding Anniversary that day. Ray and Vida Redding, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Redding of Mt. Sterling, repeated their vows at the Mt. Sterling Methodist Church on Nov. 25, 1921. Actually, the big celebration will take place Sunday, Nov. 28 from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. at the Ohmer Park Methodist Church where the Smileys have been members of the congregation for 42 years. They are residents of 1045 Charlwood Ave., Dayton, Ohio, for those who hanker to send a note of best wishes to the deserving couple. They have two sons, one daughter, grandchildren, and a great grandchild or so.

Circleville dominated the defensive unit and Miami Trace the offensive squad of the South Central Ohio League team announced Tuesday at the league banquet at Washington Court House High School.

Miami Trace placed five members on the 11-man offensive team, Washington C. H. grabbed four berths, Wilmington two with Circleville, Greenfield and Hillsboro each nabbing one spot. The group includes 10 seniors and four juniors.

Five members of the Circleville Tigers headed up the 14-man defensive unit, Miami Trace placed four, Wilmington three and Washington C. H. two. The list is compiled of 10 seniors and four juniors.

Tom Shea was the only Tiger to gain a berth on the offensive team while Mark Davey, Tom Frericks, Don Valentine, Mike Hamrick and Dave Webb were named to the defensive unit.

TOM Barrington, former Ohio State, Washington Redskins and New Orleans Saints halfback, was the guest speaker for the event.

He stressed the importance of being a complete person, mentally, physically and spiritually, and told the young men that they must prepare themselves for the future.

John Burton, secretary-treasurer of the SCOL, announced that plans were being made for a team sportsmanship award to begin next season.

Washington High School's Brass Ensemble presented a program of musical selections.

Maurice Pfeifer, Washington C. H. football coach, gave the invocation and Circleville coach Denny Williams the benediction.

PLAYERS selected to the offensive team are: Center — Dave Weade, Miami Trace, senior, 5-foot 10 inches, 185 pounds; Guards — Wayne Stillings, Washington C. H., senior, 5-foot 11 inches, 185 pounds and Pete Breuleux, Wilmington, junior, 6-foot 2 inches, 200 pounds; Tackles, Gardner Cobb, Miami Trace, junior, 6-foot 2 inches, 195 pounds; Rick Bienz, Washington C. H., senior, 6-foot, 190 feet, 155 pounds; Fullback — Tony Grooms, Miami Trace, junior, 5-foot 9 inches, 175 pounds.

Members of the defensive unit are:

Middle Guard — Mark Davey, Circleville, senior, 6-foot, 194 pounds; Tackles — Steve Warnock, Miami Trace, senior, 6-foot 1-inch, 205 pounds; Shawn Muldoon, Wilmington, senior, 6-foot 190 pounds and Tom Frericks, Circleville, junior, 6-foot 5 inches, 215 pounds; Ends — Bob Self, Washington C. H., senior, 6-foot 180 pounds and Don Valentine, Circleville, 6-foot, 190 pounds.

Linebackers — Mike Hamrick, Circleville, senior, 6-foot 2 inches, 170 pounds; Rick Haines, Wilmington, senior, 6-foot 1-inch; Bill Evans, Miami Trace, senior, 6-foot, 175 pounds and Ray Jackson, Miami Trace, senior, 5-foot 10 inches 205 pounds; Cornerbacks — Glenn Gifford, Miami Trace, junior, 5-foot 9 inches 145 pounds and Bill Junk, Washington C. H., senior, 6-foot, 155 pounds; Halfbacks — Tom Alsatis, Wilmington, junior, 5-foot 8 inches, 150 pounds and Dave Webb, Circleville, junior, 5-foot 7 inches, 135 pounds.

Pat Sullivan Named AP College Back

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Pat Sullivan's four touchdowns passes against Georgia last Saturday vaulted the talented Auburn football quarterback into the same league with two fellows named Glenn Davis and Steve Ramsey.

Davis is the legendary Army back who was responsible for 71 touchdowns in a four-year cadet career. And Ramsey, whose name often escapes even the biggest football buffs, is a North Texas State star who tied the national touchdown responsibility mark during a three-year stint in the wilds of the Southwest.

Sullivan's four scoring strikes in the Tiger's 35-20 win over the previously unbeaten Bulldogs gave him 71 touchdowns, too. And he has one more game in which to try and make the record exclusively his own.

But it is that one game—not the record or his dazzling show against Georgia—which is upmost in his mind. The Tigers play cross-state rival, Alabama in a game Nov. 27 that will decide the Southeastern Conference championship and give the winner a shot at a national crown.

"This is what we've been working for," Sullivan said, referring to the showdown of unbeaten in Birmingham.

Still, it is Sullivan's performance against Georgia that commands most of the talk around Auburn. The senior quarterback completed 14 of 24 passes for 248 yards and at least two of the completions were made while Georgia defenders were hauling him to the ground.

And for his performance, Sullivan was named national college back of the week by The Associated Press.

Prep Grid Star Learns To Lose In College

By KAROL STONGER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WACO, Texas (AP) — Robert Armstrong spent most of his 18 years learning how to win. It took him less than three months to learn how to lose.

Armstrong, whose father put a football in his hand when he started throwing toys out of his crib, became known for his good arm and strong will and was one of the most sought-after quarterbacks in Texas—a blue-chipper, as they say.

He accepted an athletic scholarship to Baylor University whose Bears haven't won the Southwest Conference championship since 1924 and have won only three games in three seasons.

"It's more of a challenge to try to build a winning team here than to start with a winner somewhere else," said the 5-foot-11, 193-pound quarterback who was courted seriously by all the SWC schools and contacted by several others.

Baylor is a Baptist college of 6,700 students on a tree-studded campus near the fringes of this town of 90,000. The stadium can accommodate 50,000 fans but a good varsity crowd is 30,000 and for the 1-4 freshman Cubs, even by Texas estimates, it's 500.

It's a far cry from the city of Houston, population 1.4 million, and the 3,400-student Sam Houston High School where Robert was a scholar without studying, a leader who was president of his senior class, an athlete of accomplishment cheered by a capacity crowd of 12,000 in the city stadium.

"I don't miss being a football hero," said the stocky, affable youth with a shock of short, sandy hair. "There's no such thing anymore. Girls look for more than brawn in guys these days."

"I do kinda miss my dad, though. In high school if I had a bad day at practice, I could go home and talk it over with him. Here all I have is my roommate and sometimes he's not too helpful."

In the three years Robert played prep ball, he lost only five of 33 games. In his last two years he set an all-time city passing record of 4,239 yards for 31 touchdowns.

As a senior he was an all-district, all-city, all-state all-America player. In the Texas Coaches' All-Star Game last August he threw four touchdowns passes to help the South whip the North 65-0 and was named most valuable back.

When he wasn't lettering in football, he dabbled in basketball, tennis, track; dated Vicki Calvert, a petite strawberry blonde majorette now a Baylor freshman; hunted and fished with his father, Samuel, and worked at his side each summer as a carpenter.

Samuel Armstrong, a husky meat-and-potatoes man who advocates athletics and discipline, grew up in the small towns of Arkansas where his father preached the Gospel as a minister. He played high school football in Norphlet, Ark., until the uniforms were destroyed by fire, and he was the county tennis champion. His wife, whom he met while in the military, was a runner of note in her native Newfoundland.

"My dad knows all the fundamentals of football and can make a tennis ball really talk," said Robert, youngest of four children. "I kinda miss being around him because he was constantly on my back and I need someone there."

"He taught me how to be tough and I never resented it because everything he's ever told me has been just as true as can be."

"I always said he'd never do anything I couldn't do—until he was 21," his father quipped. "That was an exaggeration, of course. He's a better tennis player than I am but it's just recently that he's been able to toss the football farther."

The elder Armstrong also boasts that, on determination alone Robert could have played for almost any school. His coaches confide that Louisiana State thought they had him wrapped up.

"I'm not mentioning any schools by name," said Robert, a business and physical education student, "but I saw a spark here that I didn't see anywhere else."

"Baylor can be a winner if we work hard and put it all together." Freshman Coach Mickey Sullivan said Robert worked hard, really hard.

But the team didn't put it all together. The Cubs' offense, with Armstrong and Neal Jeffrey of Shawnee Mission, Kan., quarterbacking, gained more yards passing than any other freshman team in the conference. The defense has allowed more yardage than any other.

"We only have 24 days to shape them up," said Sullivan, a wiry Baylor alumnus who played on the 1951 Orange Bowl team. "A freshman coach actually does very little teaching. You just try to keep the kids happy, keep them from getting homesick, from quitting; make sure they get off to a good start in their school work and let them work out with the varsity."

"Most kids would be down on themselves, but all Robert does is come back on Monday and work a little harder. I've never seen a kid work as hard, especially a kid with his reputation."

Still the team wound up the season with only one victory. "I'm not used to losing," Robert said, biting his lip and jamming his fist into his palm.

"You just have to let it hit you in the face and let it sting. I guess I expected it though. Freshman ball is just the hard, knocks to get ready for varsity."

Teays Valley placed three greidders on the 22-man All-Metropolitan League team announced at the league banquet Tuesday night at the Riviera Country Club.

Jack Brinker, 6-foot 3 inches 229 pounds, Terry McDaniel, 5-foot 10 inches 168 pounds, and Ken Stewart, 5-foot 11 inches 184 pounds, were honored with first team selections.

Brinker was selected as an offensive tackle, Stewart gained the fullback post and McDaniel was named as middle guard.

McDaniel and Brinker are seniors while Stewart is a junior.

West Jefferson placed six members, Dublin five, Hamilton Township five, Teays Valley three and Franklin Heights and Olentangy each gained two berths on the star team.

Teays Valley's Jim Pabst, Howard Reed and Steve Gray all received honorable mention recognition.

Other first team selections were:

West Jefferson — Paul Baronda, Mark Love, Jeff Huffman, Jeff Arnold, John Haskins and Steve Cilli.

Dublin — Todd Greiner, Frank Bohanan, Henry Montgomery, Kerry Kerston and Mike Crowder.

Hamilton Township — Bruce Trent, Greg Williams, Mike Leslie and Isaias Arriaga.

Franklin Heights — Steve Bowling and Rundels.

Olentangy — Curt Livingston and Kevin King.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Toledo defensive end Bob Rose, the Mid-American Conference defensive player of the week, pumped gas while his more heralded teammates played freshman football three years ago.

"I didn't play freshman football because I wasn't on a scholarship. I had to pump gas to pay for my education," said the 6-foot-1, 215-pound senior from Archbold, Ohio.

Rose was named the No. 1 defensive player in the league last week for 19 tackles, six of them unassisted, in a 43-0 Rocket romp at Marshall.

Bob Hitchens, a Miami of Ohio's sophomore tailback, was named the conference offensive player of the week for the second straight time, gaining 131 yards and scoring twice in a 39-0 victory over Kent State.

"Believe me, the coaches have gotten every bit of ability out of me," said Rose, a two-year starter for Toledo, riding the nation's longest victory streak of 33 games.

"I know how it feels to go from being a nobody to a somebody," Rose said.

Other defensive nominees considered by a panel of writers were Tom Van Dusen of Miami, Jack LeVeck of Ohio University and Greg Igaz of Western Michigan.

Offensively, additional candidates were Jerry Fields of Bowling Green, Dave Juenger of Ohio University, Bruce Arthur of Toledo and Keith Pretty of Western Michigan.

LSU Over Irish, Grid Forecaster Says

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The humane society," says Coach Charles Y. McClendon of Louisiana State, "oughta step in and cancel the game before putting my little boys on the field against Notre Dame."

Forget it, humane society, because the LSU fans have been waiting for this one ever since last year's heart-breaking 3-0 loss at Notre Dame. Revenge—even the thought of it—is beautiful. And come Saturday night, the Bayou Bengals get Notre Dame in their own lair at Baton Rouge, La.

"I knew we had 11 games this season," says McClendon, "and my players knew it. But not many of our fans knew it. There's no way they were gonna forget who we're playing Saturday night."

Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian, whose own fans aren't the most genial hosts of all time, has no qualms about invading the Baton Rouge snakepit.

"When I was at Northwestern," he points out, "I brought teams to South Bend and won. I've taken Notre Dame teams to all kinds of stadiums. The Cotton Bowl isn't exactly the easiest place for a visiting team to play."

"But the crowd can't throw one block or throw one pass or run for any yardage."

For better or worse, the first pick this week is . . . LSU.

Ohio State at Michigan—Another revenge game. Last year was Ohio State's turn after Michigan spoiled their perfect 1969 record and they answered back by doing the same to the Wolverines. Michigan, ranked third, has a shot at the national championship should the Nebraska-Oklahoma survivor lose its bowl game. MICHIGAN.

Air Force at Colorado—Air

Force has the revenge motive but the better team belongs to . . . COLORADO.

Arizona State at San Jose State—San Jose is coming off a stunning upset of Stanford, but unless Dee Andros has come down from Oregon State to coach the Spartans the pick is . . . ARIZONA STATE.

Cornell at Penn—The Big Red is tied with Dartmouth for the Ivy League and Ed Marinaro, the Big Red Machine, would like nothing better than to close out his career in a blaze of glory . . . and yardage.

CORNELL.

Dartmouth at Princeton—Another chance for revenge. Tigers haven't forgotten last year's 38-0 embarrassment.

PRINCETON.

UCLA at Southern California—A little more salt in Pepper Rodgers' wounds . . . and he wasn't even around last year when UCLA romped 45-20.

SOUTHERN CAL.

Texas Tech at Arkansas—Razorbacks must win to stay alive in the Southwest Conference scramble. ARKANSAS.

California at Stanford—Stanford can't win the little ones. This is a big one. STANFORD.

Michigan State at Northwestern—Michigan State beat Ohio State 17-10 two weeks ago. Northwestern beat Ohio State 14-10 last Saturday. Therefore . . . MICHIGAN STATE.

Villanova at Temple—The big late-season news in Philadelphia usually is Army-Navy. That's next week. This may be better. VILLANOVA.

Harvard at Yale — THE game? Not this year. YALE.

North Carolina at Duke—Last year, Georgia blew a Peach Bowl bid by losing to Georgia Tech and North Carolina got it instead. This time, North Carolina may blow a Peach Bowl bid by losing to . . . DUKE.

Name Vida Blue Most Valuable Player In AL

NEW YORK. (AP) — Left-handed pitcher Vida Blue of the Oakland A's was named the winner of the American League Most Valuable Player award today. At 22 Blue is the youngest player ever to win an MVP honor in either league.

Blue, who won the Cy Young Award as the AL's outstanding pitcher last month, earned 14 of a possible 24 first-place votes and 268 points from the Baseball Writers Association of America committee. Sal Bando, Blue's Oakland teammate, garnered four first-place votes and 182 points to finish second.

The Robinson boys of the AL-champion Baltimore Orioles gained the next two places. Outfielder Frank Robinson received 170 points and two first-place votes to finish third, while third baseman Brooks Robinson collected 163 points and three first-place votes to come in fourth.

Detroit pitcher Mickey Lolich, runner-up to Blue in the Cy Young balloting, got the other first-place vote and finished fifth with 155 points.

A total of 29 players were mentioned in the MVP voting. Blue was the only player to be named on every ballot.

Until Blue received the honor, the youngest player to be named MVP was Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench in 1970. Bench was just a few weeks shy of his 23rd birthday when he received his MVP award, while Blue will not turn 23 until next July 28.

The hard-throwing left-hander, in his first full season of major league ball, compiled a 24-8 record, led the league with a 1.82 earned run average, completed 24 of his 39 starts and struck out 301 batters.

In addition to his 14 first-place votes, Blue also received four seconds, two thirds and one each for fourth, fifth, seventh and eighth.

Blue is the fifth pitcher to win both the Cy Young and MVP honors. Don Newcombe did it in 1956, the year the Cy Young Award was initiated. The others were Sandy Koufax in 1963, Bob Gibson, 1968, and Denny McLain, also 1968.

He is the fifth pitcher to win the American League MVP since the award was first issued 40 years ago. Hal Newhouse won it twice, in 1944 and 1945. The other pitchers to win the MVP were Lefty Grove, 1931; Spud Chandler, 1943; Bobby Shantz, 1952, and McLain, 1968.

Blue is the first Oakland player to win the MVP and the first member of the A's to receive the honor since Shantz won it in 1952, when the twice-transplanted franchise was in Philadelphia.

Bando, the Oakland third baseman who hit .271, slammed 24 home runs and drove in 94 runs, was named on all but one of the ballots.

Frank Robinson hit .281 with 28 homers and 99 runs batted in, while Brooks Robinson batted .272 with 20 homers and 92 RBI. Lolich, 25-14, was the winningest pitcher in the major leagues.

Name Vida Blue Most Valuable Player In AL

NEW YORK, (AP) — Left-handed pitcher Vida Blue of the Oakland A's was named the winner of the American League Most Valuable Player award today.

Blue, who won the Cy Young Award as the AL's outstanding pitcher last month, earned 14 of a possible 24 first-place votes and 298 points from the Baseball Writers Association of America committee.

Sal Bando, Blue's Oakland teammate, garnered four first-place votes and 182 points to finish second.

The Robinson boys of the AL champion Baltimore Orioles gained the next two places. Outfielder Frank Robinson received 170 points and two first-place votes to finish third, while third baseman Brooks Robinson collected 163 points and three first-place votes to come in fourth.

Detroit pitcher Mickey Lolich, runner-up to Blue in the Cy Young balloting, got the other first-place vote and finished fifth with 155 points.

A total of 29 players were mentioned in the MVP voting. Blue was the only player to be named on every ballot.

Until Blue received the honor, the youngest player to be named MVP was Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench in 1970. Bench was just a few weeks shy of his 23rd birthday when he received his MVP award, while Blue will not turn 23 until next July 28.

The hard-throwing left-hander, in his first full season of major league ball, compiled a 24-8 record, led the league with a 1.82 earned run average, completed 24 of his 39 starts and struck out 301 batters.

Johnny Neumann, the Memphis Pros' million-dollar baby, was hardly playing like a five or ten-cent bargain... until he went against the Floridians Tuesday night.

Then, the former University of Mississippi star, the leading major college scorer in the nation last season, began earning his professional pay.

The 20-year-old Neumann, one of the youngest players in the American Basketball Association, erupted for his pro career high of 32 points, leading the Pros to a 119-109 victory over the Floridians.

Denver edged Indiana 111-108 in the only other ABA game Tuesday night.

Tigers Gain Six Berths On SCO All-League Team

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Circleville dominated the defensive unit and Miami Trace the offensive squad of the South Central Ohio League team announced Tuesday at the league banquet at Washington Court House High School.

Miami Trace placed five members on the 14-man defensive team, Washington C. H. grabbed four berths, Wilmington two with Circleville, Greenfield and Hillsboro each nabbing one spot. The group includes 10 seniors and four juniors.

Five members of the Circleville Tigers headed up the 14-man defensive unit, Miami Trace placed four, Wilmington three and Washington C. H. two. The list is compiled of 10 seniors and four juniors.

Tom Shea was the only Tiger to gain a berth on the offensive team while Mark Davey, Tom Frericks, Don Valentine, Mike Hamrick and Dave Webb were named to the defensive unit.

TOM Barrington, former Ohio State, Washington Redskins and New Orleans Saints halfback, was the guest speaker for the event.

He stressed the importance of being a complete person, mentally, physically and spiritually, and told the young men that they must prepare themselves for the future.

John Burton, secretary-treasurer of the SCOL, announced that plans were being made for a team sportsmanship award to begin next season.

Washington High School's Brass Ensemble presented a program of musical selections.

Maurice Pfeifer, Washington C. H. football coach, gave the invocation and Circleville coach Denney Williams the benediction.

PLAYERS selected to the offensive team are: Center — Dave Weade, Miami Trace, senior, 5-feet 10 inches, 185 pounds; Guards — Wayne Stillings, Washington C. H., senior, 5-feet 11 inches, 185 pounds and Pete Breuleux, Wilmington, junior, 6-feet 2 inches, 200 pounds; Tackles, Gardner Cobb, Miami Trace, junior, 6-feet 2 inches, 195 pounds; Rick Bienz, Washington C. H., senior, 6-feet, 190 and Louis Hamilton, Wilmington, senior, 5-feet 10 inches, 230 pounds; ends, Jeff Spears, Miami Trace, junior, 5-feet 9 inches, 150 pounds and Jim Heath, Washington C. H., senior, 6-feet 1-inch 200 pounds. Quarterback, Steve Ross, Washington C. H., senior, 6-feet 1-inch, 200 pounds; Halfbacks, Tom Shea, Circleville, senior, 5-feet 11 inches, 165 pounds; Jeff George, Greenfield, senior, 5-feet 10 inches 180 pounds; Tim Shelton, Hillsboro, senior, 5-feet 11 inches, 160 pounds and Jack Reno, Miami Trace, senior, 6-

Pat Sullivan Named AP College Back

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Pat Sullivan's four touchdown passes against Georgia last Saturday vaulted the talented Auburn football quarterback into the same league with two fellows named Glenn Davis and Steve Ramsey.

Davis is the legendary Army back who was responsible for 71 touchdowns in a four-year cadet career. And Ramsey, whose name often escapes even the biggest football buffs, is a North Texas State star who tied the national touchdown responsibility mark during a three-year stint in the wilds of the Southwest.

Sullivan's four scoring strikes in the Tiger's 35-20 win over the previously unbeaten Bulldogs gave him 71 touchdowns, too. And he has one more game in which to try and make the record exclusively his own.

But it is that one game—not the record or his dazzling show against Georgia—which is upmost in his mind. The Tigers play cross-state rival Alabama in a game Nov. 27 that will decide the Southeastern Conference championship and give the winner a shot at a national crown.

"This is what we've been working for," Sullivan said, referring to the showdown of unbeaten in Birmingham.

Still, it is Sullivan's performance against Georgia that commands most of the talk around Auburn. The senior quarterback completed 14 of 24 passes for 248 yards and at least two of the completions were made while Georgia defenders were hauling him to the ground.

And for his performance, Sullivan was named national college Back of the Week by The Associated Press.

Members of the defensive unit are:

Middle Guard — Mark Davey, Circleville, senior, 6-feet, 194 pounds; Tackles — Steve Warnock, Miami Trace, senior, 6-feet 1-inch, 205 pounds; Shawn Muldoon, Wilmington, senior, 6-feet 190 pounds and Tom Frericks, Circleville, junior, 6-feet 5 inches, 215 pounds; Ends — Bob Self, Washington C. H., senior, 6-feet, 180 pounds and Don Valentine, Circleville, 6-feet, 190 pounds.

Linebackers — Mike Hamrick, Circleville, senior, 6-feet 2 inches, 170 pounds; Rick Haines, Wilmington, senior, 6-feet 1-inch; Bill Evans, Miami Trace, senior, 6-feet, 175 pounds and Ray Jackson, Miami Trace, senior, 5-feet 10 inches 205 pounds; Cornerbacks — Glenn Gifford, Miami Trace, junior, 5-feet 9 inches 145 pounds and Bill Junk, Washington C. H., senior, 6-feet, 155 pounds; Halfbacks — Tom Atsalis, Wilmington, junior, 5-feet 8 inches, 150 pounds and Dave Webb, Circleville, junior, 5-feet 7 inches, 135 pounds.

Heath was named honorary captain of the offensive team and Davey, Warnock and Self shared honors on the defensive unit.

Circleville's Craig Allison, Richie Speakman, Dave Truex, Mike Chelickovsky, Pete Bowers, Jeff Harr, Doug Spangler and Gary Morgan all received honorable mention recognition.

The star studded squad was selected by the football coaches of the SCOL.

USTA Takes Steps Against Infection

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Trotting Association has taken steps to stop the spread of equine infectious anemia, viewed as a threat to the harness racing industry.

The USTA board of directors adopted a nationwide rule barring any standardbred horse from a track unless the trotter or pacer is certified that he is neither infected nor a carrier of the disease.

Odds Against Mathis

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Buster Mathis bucks the odds tonight when he takes on a primed Muhammad Ali in a 12-round heavyweight fight in the Astrodome.

The fight is scheduled to begin at 10:50 p.m. EST before a crowd estimated at 25,000 by the promoters, Top Rank, Inc., and Astrodome Championship Enterprises Inc.

SOUTHERN CAL.

Texas Tech at Arkansas—Razorbacks must win to stay alive in the Southwest Conference scramble. ARKANSAS.

North Carolina at Duke—Last year, Georgia blew a Peach Bowl bid by losing to Georgia Tech and North Carolina got it instead. This time, North Carolina may blow a Peach Bowl bid by losing to... DUKE.

LSU Over Irish, Grid Forecaster Says

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The humane society," says Coach Charles Y. McClendon of Louisiana State, "oughta step in and cancel the game before putting my little boys on the field against Notre Dame."

Forget it, humane society, because the LSU fans have been waiting for this one ever since last year's heartbreaking 3-0 loss at Notre Dame. Revenge—even the thought of it—is beautiful. And come Saturday night, the Bayou Bengals get Notre Dame in their own lair at Baton Rouge, La.

"I knew we had 11 games this season," says McClendon, "and my players knew it. But not many of our fans knew it. There's no way they were gonna forget who we're playing Saturday night."

most genial hosts of all time, has no qualms about invading the Baton Rouge snakepit.

"When I was at Northwestern," he points out, "I brought teams to South Bend and won. I've taken Notre Dame teams to all kinds of stadiums. The Cotton Bowl isn't exactly the easiest place for a visiting team to play."

"But the crowd can't throw one block or throw one pass or run for any yardage."

For better or worse, the first pick this week is... LSU.

Ohio State at Michigan—Another revenge game. Last year was Ohio State's turn after Michigan spoiled their perfect 1969 record and they answered back by doing the same to the Wolverines. Michigan, ranked third, has a shot at the national championship should the Nebraska-Oklahoma survivor lose its bowl game. MICHIGAN.

Force has the revenge motive but the better team belongs to... COLORADO.

Arizona State at San Jose State—San Jose is coming off a stunning upset of Stanford, but unless Dee Andros has come down from Oregon State to coach the Spartans the pick is... ARIZONA STATE.

Cornell at Penn—The Big Red is tied with Dartmouth for the Ivy League and Ed Marinaro, the Big Red Machine, would like nothing better than to close out his career in a blaze of glory... and yardage. CORNELL.

Dartmouth at Princeton—Another chance for revenge. Tigers haven't forgotten last year's 38-0 embarrassment. PRINCETON.

UCLA at Southern California—A little more salt in Pepper Rodgers' wounds... and he wasn't even around last year when UCLA romped 45-20.

South Vietnam Air Force Sets Supply Trail Strikes

SAIGON (AP) — For the first time in the Vietnam war, the South Vietnamese air force will soon begin regular strikes against the Ho Chi Minh supply trail in eastern Laos.

Informed sources said today that the South Vietnamese would join the U.S. Air Force and Navy during the next six months in bombing North Vietnamese troops and supplies moving south along the trail network during the dry season.

South Vietnamese participation initially will be token, a few missions flown each day compared to hundreds by American fliers. Informed sources said there is no suggestion that the South Vietnamese can take over the bulk of the air campaign in Laos any time soon, as they have already done in South Vietnam, but it will be a start.

Knicks Wipe Out Deficit, Defeat Phoenix Suns, 112-111

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Big leads don't mean a thing in the NBA.

"You come back from anything in this league as long as they have the 24-second clock," commented Coach Red Holzman of the New York Knicks Tuesday night after the Knicks had wiped out a 19-point deficit to beat Phoenix 112-111 in the National Basketball Association.

The Buffalo Braves, Baltimore Bullets and Golden State Warriors also came from behind to win while Seattle overcame an 18-point deficit only to lose to Chicago as the Bulls forged ahead again in the final quarter.

The Braves beat Cincinnati 102-98, Baltimore tripped Houston 110-107, Golden State over-

Bob Griesse Tops NFL On Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Shula "looked down the bench at Bob and I asked, 'You ready?'" and Griesse said, "Yeah," and from then on it was nothing but business.

When the Miami coach nodded, Griesse, tired and hungry from a night in the hospital, trotted on the field and proceeded to give Pittsburgh the business.

The 26-year-old quarterback, shuffling off an intestinal disorder that had kept him out of virtually the entire first quarter, decimated the Steelers' pass defense and rallied the Dolphins from an 18-point deficit to a thrilling 24-21 victory Sunday.

His aerial heroics, completing nine of 14 passes for 232 yards, including touchdown strikes of 12, 86 and 60 yards to wide receiver Paul Warfield, earned Griesse the nod today as The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

The 6-foot-1, 180-pounder from Purdue the Dolphins' No. 1 draft choice in 1967, edged out a pair of other quarterbacks, rookie sensation Jim Plunkett of the New England Patriots and Edd Hargett of the New Orleans Saints.

"Nothing was said about Bob's physical condition after he went in. It was apparent he was doing okay," Shula understated. "I think it gave everybody a tremendous lift. He and Paul teamed up like they've never teamed up before."

Hendricks Chosen Top Defenseman

BALTIMORE (AP)—Like it or not, linebacker Ted Hendricks of the Baltimore Colts can hardly dispute the aptness of his nickname, "The Mad Stork."

According to ornithology books, a stork is a big bird with long legs and strong wings.

Hendricks is slender at 6-foot-7 and 220 pounds, and Hank Bullough, Baltimore's linebacker coach, contends his "great arm and shoulder strength" is what makes Ted such a standout.

And, while the familiar legend has the stork delivering babies, Hendricks has become quite adept at delivering football victories. His latest effort earned Hendricks the honor of being named The Associated Press Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Against the New York Jets last Sunday, Hendricks was in on 11 tackles, intercepted a pass and blocked an extra point attempt in the last quarter to preserve Baltimore's 14-13 triumph.

Six days before that, Hendricks ran 31 yards with a recovered fumble to snap a 10-10 tie in a 24-17 victory over Los Angeles, and his blocked punt produced a TD in an earlier game against Cleveland.

Dave Chaney AP Lineman Of Week

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN Associated Press Sports Writer

San Jose State was supposed to be a breather last week for Stanford, which boasted the national college Lineman of the Week in linebacker Jeff Siemon.

When the Spartans left town, Stanford was breathing hard and San Jose State had the Associated Press Lineman of the Week.

His name is Dave Chaney and all the 5-foot-11, 218-pound linebacker from Greenfield, Calif., did was make 17 tackles—12 unassisted—sacked the quarterback once, intercepted a pass, deflected another, recovered two fumbles, forced a third and tackled the Stanford punter on the one-yard line to set up a touchdown.

"We had the All-American out there," chortled Coach Dewey King, "and his name was Dave Chaney. Siemon was good, too, but our boy was the best. Dave is an All-American. There isn't anyone any better."

Stanford's John Ralston knew all about Chaney beforehand.

"That Chaney has been a tiger against us for the past two years," he said one. "He would be an ace with any team in our league."

WEMBLEY, England (AP) — Jerry Quarry, fresh from scoring a sensational first-round knockout in his British debut, set his sights today on a world heavyweight title elimination bout here in London against George Foreman.

Quarry, the No. 4 contender for Joe Frazier's world crown, slammed Britain's European champion Jack Bodell into oblivion in 64 seconds of a scheduled 10-rounder Tuesday night.

BOSTON (AP) — Tony Conigliaro, who made an amazing comeback from a near fatal beating in 1967, is going to collect his full year's pay from the California Angels although he left the club in July.

"I'm sure he's happy it's over," Conigliaro's father, Sal, said Tuesday night after the Angels announced they had agreed to place the 25-year-old slugger on the disabled list and pay him the remainder of an estimated $80,000 contract for the 1971 season.

South Vietnam Air Force Sets Supply Trail Strikes

SAIGON (AP) — For the first time in the Vietnam war, the South Vietnamese air force will soon begin regular strikes against the Ho Chi Minh supply trail in eastern Laos.

Informed sources said today that the South Vietnamese would join the U.S. Air Force and Navy during the next six months in bombing North Vietnamese troops and supplies moving south along the trail network during the dry season.

South Vietnamese participation initially will be token, a few missions flown each day compared to hundreds by American fliers. Informed sources said there is no suggestion that the South Vietnamese can take over the bulk of the air campaign in Laos any time soon, as they have already done in South Vietnam, but it will be a start.

Unless there is a political settlement with the Communists, the United States will have to do most of the bombing in southeastern Laos for many months to come.

This will not delay the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam since most of the planes fly from the five U.S. Air Force bases in Thailand and the aircraft carriers in the Tonkin Gulf.

The United States has built the South Vietnamese air force into the eighth largest in the world, with 39 squadrons, more than 900 aircraft and 46,000 men. But it is being trained and equipped mostly for operations inside South Vietnam, on the assumption that the war will de-escalate in the years to come.

In the war today, U.S. B-52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese bunkers and storage depots in the southern half of the demilitarized zone on the Laotian border for the fifth successive day.

Only small patrol clashes were reported on the battlefields of South Vietnam, but it was disclosed that government forces launched a search operation three days ago 12 miles northeast of Saigon.

About 300 militiamen backed by heavy air and artillery strikes are looking for a local Viet Cong sapper battalion. No significant contact has been reported.

In Cambodia, military sources said more than 5,000 Cambodian troops were being shifted to the western outskirts of Phnom Penh to oppose two North Vietnamese and Viet Cong regiments thrusting northward and threatening two important highways leading from the Cambodian capital.

The Cambodian command confirmed today that it had lost the village of Tuol Leap, 10 miles west of Phnom Penh and said enemy attacks were continuing in that region.

Knicks Wipe Out Deficit, Defeat Phoenix Suns 112-111

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Big leads don't mean a thing in the NBA.

"You come back from anything in this league as long as they have the 24-second clock," commented Coach Red Holzman of the New York Knicks Tuesday night after the Knicks had wiped out a 19-point deficit to beat Phoenix 112-111 in the National Basketball Association.

The Buffalo Braves, Baltimore Bullets and Golden State Warriors also came from behind to win while Seattle overcame an 18-point deficit only to lose to Chicago as the Bulls forged ahead again in the final quarter.

The Braves beat Cincinnati 102-98, Baltimore tripped Houston 110-107, Golden State overcame Detroit 122-101 and Chicago defeated Seattle 95-87. In the other NBA games Los Angeles whacked Cleveland 108-90 and Milwaukee routed Portland 125-105.

Down by 97-78 the Knicks caught fire with 9½ minutes left. Walt Frazier led the charge with 16 points including two free throws that gave the Knicks, a three-point lead at 112-109 with 17 seconds left and clinched the victory.

Altogether Frazier had 39 points for the game his career high. Dick Van Arsdale led the Suns with 26.

Buffalo, behind by 14 points at 52-38, rallied to go ahead of the Royals at 81-80, fell behind again, then went ahead for good at 92-91 on a Mike Davis layup. Walt Hazzard was high for the Braves with 27, Nate Williams had the same for the Royals, 19 of them in the first half.

Houston led Baltimore by 107-103 with 1:19 remaining before the Bullets tied the score on two steals by Dave Stallworth and Jack Marin. A layup by Phil Chenier with 23 seconds left put Baltimore ahead to stay. Elvin Hayes of the Rockets was game high scorer with 31 points. Chenier topped the Bullets with 26.

Bob Griese Tops NFL On Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Shula "looked down the bench at Bob and I asked, 'You ready?'" and Griese said, "Yeah," and from then on it was nothing but business."

When the Miami coach nodded, Griese, tired and hungry from a night in the hospital, trotted on the field and proceeded to give Pittsburgh the business.

The 26-year-old quarterback, shrugging off an intestinal disorder that had kept him out of virtually the entire first quarter, decimated the Steelers' pass defense and rallied the Dolphins from an 18-point deficit to a thrilling 24-21 victory Sunday.

His aerial heroics, completing nine of 14 passes for 232 yards, including touchdown strikes of 12, 86 and 60 yards to wide receiver Paul Warfield, earned Griese the nod today as The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

The 6-foot-1, 180-pounder from Purdue the Dolphins' No. 1 draft choice in 1967, edged out a pair of other quarterbacks, rookie sensation Jim Plunkett of the New England Patriots and Edd Hargett of the New Orleans Saints.

"Nothing was said about Bob's physical condition after he went in. It was apparent he was doing okay," Shula understated. "I think it gave everybody a tremendous lift. He and Paul teamed up like they've never teamed up before."

Man Freed From Army; Error Found

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John Penrose has no regrets. He figures the six months he spent in the Army by mistake was "good experience."

"Besides," the 21-year-old ex-GI said Tuesday, "I get all the veteran benefits."

Penrose accepted induction last April without objection, even though his draft lottery number of 182 seemed high at the time.

"But I thought the system never made errors and they should know, so who was I to question?"

He said he thought the fact he had changed from a full-time to part-time student at Franklin University was involved in his being drafted.

Penrose said he was drafted accidentally following a paper mixup when the Selective Service Board office at London, his home town, moved. The error was found in a periodic review of records.

The Army notified Penrose after he had completed basic training at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

"I thought it was some kind of big joke, but they said it was on the level," Penrose related.

He was given the option of staying in the Army or taking an honorable discharge.

He decided on the discharge, since he was told by authorities he would be reclassified 4-A, meaning he had completed his military obligation.

Middletown Fire Damage Heavy; 2 Stores Close

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Rink's Department store and supermarket here will be closed for an indefinite period as the result of a two-alarm fire Tuesday night.

William Denzer, owner of the store, said that the blaze started about 7:30 p.m. in a cardboard compactor at the rear of the building. Flames spread into a storage area.

"There is extreme smoke damage throughout the store, and in all the clothing," Denzer said.

No one was hurt. Denzer said he could not estimate damage. He said the store will be closed until he can determine the extent of damage.

Hendricks Chosen Top Defenseman

BALTIMORE (AP)—Like it or not, linebacker Ted Hendricks of the Baltimore Colts can hardly dispute the aptness of his nickname, "The Mad Stork."

According to ornithology books, a stork is a big bird with long legs and strong wings.

Hendricks is slender at 6-foot-7 and 220 pounds, and Hank Bullough, Baltimore's line-backer coach, contends his "great arm and shoulder strength" is what makes Ted such a standout.

And, while the familiar legend has the stork delivering babies, Hendricks has become quite adept at delivering football victories. His latest effort earned Hendricks the honor of being named The Associated Press Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Against the New York Jets last Sunday, Hendricks was in on 11 tackles, intercepted a pass and blocked an extra point attempt in the last quarter to preserve Baltimore's 14-13 triumph.

Six days before that, Hendricks ran 31 yards with a recovered fumble to snap a 10-10 tie in a 24-17 victory over Los Angeles, and his blocked punt produced a TD in an earlier game against Cleveland.

Youthful Suspect Sought In West Virginia Slayings

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Police today said they were seeking a white male about 20 years old with light hair for questioning in the shooting deaths Tuesday of a prominent Charleston physician and his wife.

They said they had no reason to believe the murders of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Cottrell Jr., were linked with the apparent murder-suicide deaths of the four members of the Robert Eder family. The bodies of the Eder family were also found Tuesday in the same fashionable neighborhood.

"The investigating police agencies are interested in any information available concerning a subject possibly seen in the Sheridan Circle area the night and morning hours of Nov. 15 and Nov. 16," chief of detectives Arlie Robinson said today.

"His description is as follows: a white male, about 20 years old, clean shaven, rather short and curly blond or light brown hair and of medium build. He was wearing light colored pants and possibly a trench coat."

Robinson said police had several leads in the Cottrell murders, but he wouldn't elaborate on them.

He said the man sought had been seen in the area of the Cottrell home at about the time police believe the couple was murdered.

The bodies of Eder, 30, his wife Pat, 29, and their two sons, Randy, 9, and Jerry, 5 were found in their home in Charleston's South Hills area. Officers said Eder killed his wife and the two boys then turned the shotgun on himself.

Their bodies were discovered by a neighbor at about the same time detectives were investigating the Cottrell slayings.

Cottrell, 50, had been shot four times in the head and his wife Betty, 36, was shot twice in the head, police said.

"At this time we have little if nothing to go on," said Detective Lt. Arlie Robinson late Tuesday of the Cottrell deaths.

The double shootings were discovered by a daughter, Teresa, 13, who told police she had awakened found her parents' bedroom empty and gone downstairs where she found the bodies in a recreation room.

A wallet beside Cottrell's body was empty, but one detective noted they didn't know if he was in the habit of carrying much money. And another said they were reluctant to consider robbery as a motive because "there was just too many other things of value lying around that were not touched."

"This is the most awful thing I've ever seen," a patrolman said as he looked at the home where police said Eder killed his wife and two boys then shot himself.

The killings in the Eder home came less than 12 hours after Eder had told his boss he needed help.

"He indicated to me he needed a little relief," George Ferrell, Eder's supervisor in the U.S. Department of Agriculture, said. "He needed someone to talk to."

Eder had scheduled an appointment with a psychiatrist for December. Tuesday morning the psychiatrist's office tried to call the home to ask Eder to come in for a 10 a.m. appointment that morning since another patient had cancelled an appointment.

The decree was broadcast shortly after a full police and military alert was ordered throughout the country. That spread rumors of a coup d'etat.

Cabinet ministers seemed unaware of what was coming. Thanat Khoman, who has been foreign minister, heard the announcement on a portable radio at dinner.

The announcement said there was no change in the structure of the military and police commands. The Revolutionary Council ordered all officials to continue working and asked that the people remain calm.

While Thailand has been a backer of U.S. policy in Southeast Asia, it also has started to reappraise its views toward Red China. The Thais assert that China is behind an insurgency which has threatened to wrest northern areas from Bangkok's control.

As foreign minister, Thanat Khoman sought more than two years ago to arrange talks with China to consider coexistence for this and other Southeast Asian countries. No response from Peking was ever announced.

ing the bases for Indochina operations, the Thanom government has given support to ground operations in South Vietnam.

The decree was broadcast shortly after a full police and military alert was ordered throughout the country. That spread rumors of a coup d'etat. Cabinet ministers seemed unaware of what was coming. Thanat Khoman, who has been foreign minister, heard the announcement on a portable radio at dinner.

The announcement said there was no change in the structure of the military and police commands. The Revolutionary Council ordered all officials to continue working and asked that the people remain calm.

While Thailand has been a backer of U.S. policy in Southeast Asia, it also has started to reappraise its views toward Red China. The Thais assert that China is behind an insurgency which has threatened to wrest northern areas from Bangkok's control.

"We are not the enemy of the people in China but we are against those who export Communist doctrine to our kingdom," the premier has said.

As foreign minister, Thanat Khoman sought more than two years ago to arrange talks with China to consider coexistence for this and other Southeast Asian countries. No response from Peking was ever announced.

Thailand abstained in the U.N. vote expelling Taiwan and seating Peking.
